SENATE TOOK UPPER HAND

Steals March on House to Force Quick Action on Tariff Agreement.

PASSED BY SENATE; HASTE IS PROGRAM

President Wilson's Revenue Measure Goes Through in Fine Style.

PRESIDENT PRAISES TARIFF MEASURE.

"A fight for the people and for free business which has lasted a long generation through has at last been won, handsomely and completely. A leadership and a steadfastness in counsel has been shown in both houses, of which the democratic party has reason to be proud. There has been no weakness or confusion or drawing back, but a statesmanlike directness and command of circumstances, I am happy to have been connected with the government of the nation at a time when such things could happen and to have worked in association with men who could do them. There is every reason to believe that currency reform will be carried through with equal energy, directness, and loyalty to the general interest. When that is done this first session of the Sixty-third congress will have passed into history with an unrivaled distinction. I want to express my special admiration for the devoted, intelligent and untiring work of Mr. Underwood and Mr. Simmons and the committee associated with them."

Washington, Sept. 10.—The democratic tariff revision bill as it passed the senate last night changed in many particulars from the form in which it left the house over four months ago, went back to that body today and will find its way into a joint conference committee where the finishing touches will be given to it.

The senate stole a march upon the house, when immediately after passing the bill it decided to "insist upon its amendments" and ask for a conference. Under this procedure when the bill went to the house today there was nothing for the house to do but accept the amendments or meet the request of the senate for the appointment of a house committee. The move of the senate leaders while formal in character saved a day's time in getting the bill into the joint conference committee.

Preliminary conferences within the last two weeks between Representative Underwood and Senator Simmons, the tariff leaders of the two bodies have led to an understanding that little time will be consumed in the conference discussion of the bill. It was predicted today that the measure probably would be ready for the president within ten days.

CURRENCY ACT MUST COME ON

With Tariff Bill Out of the Way President Takes Up Money Bill.

EFFORT TO DELAY IS TURNED DOWN

Debate of Measure in the House Put Under Way to End Saturday.

Washington, Sept. 10.—With the tariff bill practically out of the way, President Wilson took up the currency situation early today with the senate steering committee. Senators Kern, Hoke Smith, Clarke, O'Gorman, Owen, Chamberlain, Martin, Thomas and Bacon were present.

Senator Bacon expressed a desire that the senate should take a few weeks' rest before undertaking the passage of a currency bill, but the president, it was said, was determined to continue his insistence that currency be disposed of as soon as possible. The president received from Senator Owen a poll of the senate democrats which, it was said, showed practical unanimity for legislation on currency with all possible speed.

When the conference was concluded, Senator Kern, chairman of the steering committee, announced that there would be no delay in taking up the currency bill and that the committee would meet later today to determine upon a course of action.

"There is no thought of any recess, no thought of any unnecessary delay," said Senator Kern. "It is simply a question of how soon the currency bill can be reported from the committee. Until there can be a report from the conference committee on the tariff bill the senate probably will recess three days at a time unless some business develops which would require meetings oftener than twice a week. The urgent deficiency bill can be passed in the senate without much trouble."

A number of democrats believed it would be a month at least before the senate can begin debate.

DEBATE BEGINS IN HOUSE.

Washington, Sept. 10.—The administration currency bill today started on its devious way to the statute books when Chairman Glass, of the house banking committee, and one of the fathers of the measure, opened the currency debate in the house. In a long speech Mr. Glass expounded the principles underlying the bill and replied to various criticisms of the measure. The democrats hope to conclude the general debate on the bill this week and begin its detailed consideration Monday.

Mr. Glass replied at length to the criticism that the federal reserve board, placed by the bill in control of the proposed financial system, would, with its wide powers, be subject to political influence.

"There is no politics in this matter; there can be none. It, is my earnest conviction, based on long and serious reflection, that no man can conceive, as none has yet pointed out, how any part of this system can be perverted to political issues," said he. "I happened to be present when an eminent banker

ESQUIMOS NEVER KNOWN TO MURDER

Arctic Experts Astonished by Reported Death of Two Explorers.

DETAILS OF KILLING

New York, Sept. 10.—Members of the Arctic club here are surprised at the report of the murder of H. V. Radford, of New York, and George Street, of Ottawa by Eskimos at Shultz lake, near the Arctic ocean about June 1, 1912. The members of the club declared that if the report of the killing of Radford and his companion was true it was one of the first instances of display of savagery among the Eskimos.

Members of the Canadian mounted police force have been sent out to investigate the circumstances.

Details of the alleged murder received in Ottawa by mail say that Radford and Street in the fall of 1911 left Chesterfield, the most northerly Hudson Bay post, to go inland to trade with the Eskimos at Shultz lake. On the arrival there they arranged to remain with the tribe, but Radford got into an altercation with one of them, who speared him to death. Street, going to his companion's assistance, was speared from behind. Radford, Fellow of the American Geological society and member of the Arctic club, New York, left this city on Feb. 12, 1909, for a four years' trip of exploration in northern Canada. He planned to cover about 6,000 miles through northwestern British Columbia, northern Alaska and the east cape of Asia.

Coincident with the telegraphic report of the death of the two explorers, there arrived at a newspaper office here yesterday a letter written by Radford on June fifth, 1912, the day he is supposed to have been killed. It seems that this letter was forwarded from Bathurst inlet by the same Eskimo chief, named Akulak, who brought the news of the alleged murder of the two white men, to the northwest mounted police. In his letter Radford told of the success of his mission and adjoined that he and Street were starting for the McKenzie delta. He said he believed that he and Street were the only whites who had entered Bathurst inlet since Franklin's expedition of 1821. Radford said that within two weeks he hoped to complete his inspection and mapping of the last strip of continental coast remaining unexplored, to make complete and continuous the coast line of North America. Regarding the Eskimos at Bathurst inlet he said:

"We found a very primitive tribe, who have no intercourse with whites. They possess no rifles and hunt, as of old, with bow, spear and harpoon." He said he had already arranged with two of these natives to accompany him westward toward the MacKenzie delta.

Constable Harvey Hughes has recovered from the effects of a minor surgical operation which he submitted to a few days ago at St. Joseph's hospital.

PERRY'S VICTORY IS CELEBRATED

Ex-President Taft and a Notable Company at Put-in-Bay.

BATTLE CENTENARY

Cedar Point, O., Sept. 10.—The celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Battle of Lake Erie, Sept. 10, 1813, and the commemoration of one hundred years of peace between Great Britain and the United States, under the auspices of the Inter-State Board of the Perry's Victory Centennial Commissioners, began here today.

An elaborate banquet given by the Perry Inter-State board this evening in honor of distinguished guests representing the United States government, the Dominion of Canada, and the ten states participating in the erection of the Perry memorial and in the centennial celebration, will conclude the day's program.

Since yesterday morning, Sandusky and Cedar Point have witnessed stirring scenes incident to the arrival of Commodore Perry's restored flagship "Niagara," the state naval militia ships joining in

THINKS REMAINS THOSE OF WIFE

Richmond, Ind., Tailor is Sure He Can Solve the Gotham Mystery.

SPOUSE IS MISSING

Chicago, Sept. 10.—That the dismembered body of a woman found in the Hudson river, New York, last Friday, is that of his wife, is the belief of Samuel Altman, a tailor of Richmond, Ind. The description of the torso recovered by fishermen answers to that of his wife, who deserted him August 26, he says.

"The dispatches tell of a mark shaped like a square on the left shoulder blade of the body," said Altman. "My wife, whose maiden name was Lillian Carpenter, had an 'L' tatooed in such a position many years ago.

"Part of the body was wrapped in a pillow case in which the letter 'A' was embroidered. Much of our linen is embroidered with an 'A.' If the arms of the body were recovered, I would be more certain. My wife had the initials 'L. C.' tatooed in tiny letters on one hand and the initials 'T. P.' above the elbow on one arm. A few days before my wife disappeared she remarked she was going to New York."

RECOVER BODIES OF AIR SAILORS

Torpedo Boats Search the Waters of North Sea's Tragic Scene.

FOURTEEN ARE DEAD

Helgoland, North Sea, Sept. 10.—Torpedo boat destroyers with their search lights flashing over the dark waters, remained all night at the scenes of yesterday's airship catastrophe in which only seven of a crew of twenty-one were saved.

One body was recovered last night and six more were found this afternoon, including those of Captain Metzing, chief of the naval airship service, and Captain Laine, commander of the wrecked dirigible. Doctors are working energetically over three of them with the hope of resuscitating the men. The bodies of seven others are probably in the cabin of the airship, which lies at the bottom of one of the deepest parts of the North sea.

The hurricane, which destroyed the airship turned into a steady gale today and it has been impossible to locate the wreck. It became known today that a hydro-aeroplane accompanying the dirigible, also had a narrow escape from destruction. The aviator, Lieut. Lonefeld, saw the cyclonic storm approaching and reached a haven of safety just in time. The Zeppelin O-1 tried to circle the storm and was drawn into it. The rudders and machines were useless and the heavy rain and furious wind jammed the helpless craft seaward.

ARE SEPARATE FACTION.

Fort Wayne Linemen Not in Sympathy With Striking Workers.

According to officials of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company the linemen's strike on the lines of the T. H. I. & E. and the Union Traction Company of Indiana has thus far resulted in no trouble in the operation of interurban cars between this city and Indianapolis, or on any of the lines operating out of Fort Wayne. It is understood that the Fort Wayne linemen are not in sympathy with the strikers. Linemen employed by the light and power department of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana company have an organization, but the interurban linemen here are unorganized. In spite of the strike, four extra cars over the Union traction lines are being operated today to accommodate crowds attending the state fair at Indianapolis.

EXPLOSION INJURES SCORE.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—More than twenty persons were injured, three buildings were partly wrecked and windows within a radius of half a mile were shattered early today by the explosion of a bomb in the doorway of a private bank of Alexander Conforti, 912 South Halstead street. The explosion is believed by the police to be the work of blackmailers.

THAW THRUST OUT OF CANADA BY MAIN FORCE

After Aimless Wandering in Two States He is Arrested in New Hampshire Village by Sheriff

PUTS UP A FIGHT AGAINST DEPORTATION

Plan to Get Rid of Him Kept Secret by Canadian Officials and Thaw's Lawyer's are Dumbfounded

Carrying out plans laid in secret and not revealed and in pursuance of an unannounced order of deportation by the Acting Minister of the Interior J. C. Doherty at Ottawa, Harry Kendall Thaw was forcibly and in spite of his furious resistance deported from Canada at 8 o'clock this morning and thrust over the border into the United States. After aimless driving in the automobile of two newspaper correspondents over roads from Vermont into New Hampshire, Thaw was arrested in the latter state and is now in jail. His counsel have been unable to communicate with him and are dumbfounded by the sudden turn of affairs.

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw enjoyed three brief hours of liberty in Northern New England today, but was arrested shortly before noon on a country road five miles from here by Sheriff Holman Drew, of Coos county.

Thaw, in an automobile, with some newspaper correspondents, was driving down the road and had reached a little rural school house when an automobile containing the sheriff appeared in sight. The sheriff, recognizing Thaw, held up his hand for the car to stop. Thaw ordered the chauffeur, a French Canadian, to bring the car to a standstill and then alighted and went into the sheriff's car without protest, although the officer had no warrant for his arrest.

Thaw Not Locked Up.

Thaw and the newspaper correspondents then proceeded to Colebrook. Thaw was not locked up in jail, but was taken to the office of Thomas Johnson, a local attorney, whom he retained as his legal adviser upon his arrival here.

During the early part of his flight from Norton Mills, Vt., Thaw lost his hat and when he reached here he wore a cap borrowed from one of his newspaper companions. His only possession was a bunch of cigars. As soon as he arrived here with his prisoner Sheriff Drew wired William Travers Jerome of the arrest of Thaw and requested Mr. Jerome to come here at once to take charge of the fugitive.

Later in the day Thaw will be taken to Lancaster, the county seat, and confined in the county jail.

When Thaw crossed the international boundary at 9 o'clock this morning only about a dozen persons were at Norton Mills—the first town on the Vermont side of the border and none of them made any attempt to delay his car.

Did Not Know What to Do.

For the first time since his arrest at Coaticook three weeks ago, Thaw was a free man. He stood for a few moments not knowing what way to go and then asked one of the newspaper correspondents who had followed him from Coaticook in an automobile if he might enter his car. Permission was granted and the party started immediately for Averill, where a stop was made at the village inn. On reaching Averill, Thaw attempted to get in telephonic communication with his mother and his lawyers at Montreal but the line was working badly and he was unsuccessful. He had breakfast at the inn and partook of a bowl of bread and milk. Re-entering the automobile Thaw and his newspaper acquaintances doubled back into Canada for a short distance and then returned to American territory through Canaan and Beecher Falls, Vt., crossing

BIG CITIES THAT GOT TIRED AND ROUNCED PARTISAN GOVERNMENT

(By the Non-Partisan City Central Committee.)

To the Voters of the City of Fort Wayne:

You are too wise and well-informed to be fooled by the claptrap that the non-partisan movement in Fort Wayne is a strange, undemocratic and dangerous proceeding. You know how rapidly during the last half dozen years sentiment has grown for non-partisan government in cities throughout the country. The movement here is a part of the movement that is sweeping over all the nation.

Four years ago Boston—fifth largest city in the United States—secured from the legislature of Massachusetts a charter that abolished partisan government in the New England metropolis. More than a million people in the metropolitan district of Boston have the benefit of this great step in advance.

St. Paul, the capital of Minnesota and one of the great cities of the northwest, but recently adopted a non-partisan system of government, in order to unite her citizenship in greater and more rapid advancement.

Oakland, California, struggled under a long succession of partisan administrations. Taxes were high, public improvements at a standstill, police and fire forces reduced, city revenues inadequate and municipal credit impaired. Finally the parties were routed, the people united and within a year the whole civic and municipal aspect in Oakland was changed.

Dayton, Ohio, has just adopted a system of government from which partisan organizations are ruled out. Like Fort Wayne, Dayton is confronted by great problems raised by the flood and her people want hostage that never again shall disaster ravage their city as was done by the deluge of last March. Dayton realized that partisan control would enfeeble, if it did not paralyze, her efforts. As the first step in the rebuilding of the city, restoring its industry and commerce, recovering its prosperity and establishing perpetual boundaries to floods, the people destroyed the partisan evil of municipal government and have united in spirit and effort to do what is best for all of them.

Kansas City, Wichita and Topeka in Kansas; Sacramento in California; Lawrence, Lowell and Lynn in Massachusetts; Lincoln and Omaha in Nebraska; Spokane and Tacoma in Washington; Trenton and Atlantic City in New Jersey; Salt Lake and Ogden in Utah; and Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Burlington in Iowa, are among the more important cities that have discarded partisan rule. Add to these more than two hundred other cities that have done the same thing and out of the whole number not one can be found that has returned, or thought of returning to the old system of party rule.

What has been proved good by so wide an experiment will prove good in Fort Wayne. In emulating examples so numerous, Fort Wayne is not attempting anything strange, undemocratic or dangerous.

How's This for a Mix-up?

HUGH T. HOGAN, general foreman of the machine shops of the Pennsylvania, and F. Charles Meyer, foreman of the vise department of the same center of activity, had arranged to go to Chicago the other morning on Pennsylvania train No. 15 which leaves about 3 o'clock. It was quite essential that both men make the trip as it was a mater of joint interest to their departments.

Mr. Hogan arose about 2 o'clock, and thought it well to call Mr. Meyer by 'phone to be sure he had awakened in time.

"'Hello,' said he, after waiting some little time before the other man answered, 'is this Charley Meyer?'

"'Yes,'" answered Charley.

"'Well,' responded Mr. Hogan, 'I just thought I'd call you, so as to be sure you were up in time to get the train for Chicago. Were you asleep?'

"'Yes, I was asleep,' responded Mr. Meyer, 'but I've decided not to go to Chicago this morning.'

"'What? Not going?'

"'No, I'm going to wait till next week. Goodbye,' and he hung up the receiver.

"Mr. Hogan was nonplussed. Nevertheless, he decided to make the trip alone, and so he hurried to the station. He couldn't figure out why Mr. Meyer had decided not to go, as the trip seemed absolutely essential, and Mr. Meyer appeared to have no good excuse for changing the arrangement—at least, he gave no reason over the 'phone. While standing on the depot platform studying the situation, Mr. Hogan was surprised to see Mr. Meyer approaching him.

"'How are you?' saluted Mr. Meyer.

"'Why,' responded Mr. Hogan, 'I thought you told me you weren't going.'

"'When did I tell you that?'"

"I thought you weren't going."

"'Why, just now—over the 'phone.'

"'I haven't talked to you over the 'phone.'"

Mr. Hogan reviewed the situation, and it turned out that Mr. Hogan had been speaking over the telephone to another Charley Meyer—Charles H. Meyer, a painter, living at 2428 Weisser Park avenue. F. Charles Meyer lives at 2314 Weisser Park avenue, and Mr. Hogan got the wrong man when he looked into the telephone book. It was later learned that Mr. Meyer to whom Mr. Hogan had been speaking over the wire had planned a trip to Chicago on the same train, but had abandoned his plan. Hence the mixup.

POLITICS BEATS POLICE MEASURE

Additions to the Force is Rendered Impossible by Councilmen.

ROUTINE OF MEETING

Politics of the peanut variety is today being held responsible for the refusal of the city council at its meeting last night to pass ordinances presented by the board of public safety asking that a salary be provided for a police matron and that the office of captain of detectives and two additional sergeants be created.

It was shown that the new officers could be paid out of police appropriations already made and without setting aside any additional sums, but the disposition to cripple the present administration was demonstrated and as usual Councilman Bauer had to explain his vote. This has been his custom for so many years that the other members expect it now. Mr. Bauer said there are no quarters fit for women.

The police matron ordinance was opposed and voted against by Bauer, Bougher, Dittoe, Felger, Heller, Rogge, Strodel and Welch, and for it were Braun, Hamilton, Pfleger, Schroeder, Van Sweringen and Wagner. Sarver was the only absentee.

The board of public safety had approved both measures fully and the action was surprising. On the question of appointing the additional officers Herman Strodel moved that the ordinance be tabled and this was done.

If the offices were created now the present administration would have the selection of the men to fill them and this is thought to have militated against the passage of the laws.

Under a suspension of the rules the ordinance providing for the bond issue asked by Controller Sherman Cutshall was passed. The Berghoff spur from the street car tracks to the brewery property was held up and referred to the committee on contracts and franchises, because Mr. Wagner said there ought to be some investigation to ascertain whether this should be granted. He was against hasty action.

Ordinances authorizing the park board to reconstruct the shade tree system on East Wayne street, Grant to Glasgow, and appropriating $1,000 to the sewer repair account were passed. A measure appropriating $2,000 to the maintenance and repair of street account was sent to the committee on finance.

Councilman Strodel suggested that the council purchase a large electric launch to be used by the police and fire departments in rescue work should another flood occur.

Councilman Van Sweringen, chairman of the special committee named to investigate the claim advanced that the government own the banks of the three rivers in Fort Wayne, reported that since adverse reports had been received from the government land office, he deemed it best to drop the matter and asked that the committee be discharged.

In a communication to the council Mayor Grice reported that he had approved the ordinance fixing the city's tax levy at $1.16 for 1914; creating the post of additional duty sergeant in the police department and appropriating $5,000 to the fire force account with which to purchase automobiles for the chief and assistant chief.

DIARRHOEA QUICKLY CURED.

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

RAIN WILL COME AFTER THE COLD

Temperature Here Reaches New Low Record Mark for the Season

AND CITY SHIVERED

Fort Wayne and Allen county shivered this morning and dug up last winter's blankets and cast-off overcoats when the mercury of the government thermometer reached the lowest record of the season, and at 6 o'clock registered a temperature of 46 degrees, or five degrees lower than the previous cool weather of the autumn.

The cool wave area was widespread and W. S. Palmer, official forecaster in Fort Wayne, decorated the government weather map at the Commercial club with numerous marks, which to the understanding map reader mean frost. The frost was heavy in many parts of the north, but luckily did not reach Indiana, and Mr. Palmer says there is no immediate danger of a visit of that never failing forerunner of winter, and the cool weather is scheduled to break up Thursday with a rain and warmer temperatures.

Numerous overcoats were seen about the downtown streets last evening and automobilists even wore gloves of some weight because of the chilling wind.

the celebration and distinguished guests from all parts of the country.

Illustrious Company.

The guests of honor are: Former President William H. Taft, Dr. John A. MacDonald, of Toronto; the governors of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, New York, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Indiana and Minnesota, most of whom are accompanied by their staff; Mrs. William Slade, president of the National Society of the Daughters of the War of 1812; Lieutenant-General Nelson A. Miles; members of the Perry's Victory Centennial Commission, representing the national government and the ten participating states, and a host of state officials and prominent men.

Governor Cox, of Ohio, arrived with members of his staff and state officials on board the Ohio militia ship "Dorothea;" Governor Ferris, of Michigan, with the Michigan commissioners and staff, on board the "Don Juan de Austria; Governor McGovern, of Wisconsin, with the Wisconsin commissioners and a party of several hundred, on board a chartered steamship, and Governor Pothier, of Rhode Island, with the Rhode Island commissioners, state and city officials and leading military organizations of Rhode Island, on board two chartered boats from Providence, R. I. Governor McCreary, of Kentucky, came with President Worthington, of the centennial commission, on board the private yacht "Priscilla," and special parties by rail escorted Governor Tener of Pennsylvania, Governor Dunne of Illinois and Governor Ralston of Indiana.

Go to Put-in-Bay.

At 9 o'clock this morning the guests of honor and others in attendance by special invitation embarked for Put-in-Bay on board special boats chartered by the commission and the naval ships escorting the "Niagara." Among these Ohio, the "Austria" of Michigan, the Ohio, the "Austria" of Michigan, the "Wolverine" of Pennsylvania, the "Hawk" of New York, and the United States cutter "Morrell," accompanied by a swarm of power boats, sailing yachts and craft of all description.

At 11:45 o'clock at Put-in-Bay, just one hundred years from the moment when history records the opening gun was fired in the Battle of Lake Erie, the public exercises, near the site of the Perry memorial, began. A vast audience had assembled. President-General George H. Worthington, of the interstate board, called the meeting to order and introduced Governor James M. Cox as master of ceremonies.

Descendant of Perry.

Rev. Galbraith B. Perry, of Cambridge, N. Y., a descendant of the hero of the Battle of Lake Erie, delivered the invocation, at the close of which Governor Cox introduced Mr. Taft as the orator of the day. Dr. MacDonald spoke for the British-Canadian interests. The program called for other addresses by Lieutenant-Governor R. B. Burchard, of Rhode Island, and Rev. A. J. Carey, of Chicago, the latter representing the colored race in tribute to the participation of colored sailors in the battle one hundred years ago.

Mr. Taft's Address.

"A century ago today this bay was made famous by a battle," said Mr. Taft, "and today we meet to dedicate a great and beautiful monument to those who took part."

"In the retrospection of one hundred years we can weigh its significance. Nothing has developed in these years to diminish the courage, patriotism and skill of the commander and his men as they appeared to their contemporaries. But the consequences of the battle and of the war of which it was one of the bright spots in a field of gloom were strikingly beneficient and promise to grow even more so in the second century upon which we are now entering."

Mr. Taft then sketched the biography of Commodore Perry, from his birth in Rhode Island on the 23d of August, 1785, to the supreme moment of his career—the naval engagement off West Sister island, one hundred years ago—and to his sudden death in Venezuela on his thirty-fourth birthday. His youth, the difficulties encountered in building and manning his fleet and his courage in the crisis which turned the tide of victory were made the subjects of Mr. Taft's eulogies.

"The event in the light of the difficulties encountered in building, arming and manning his fleet served to show the greatness of the man," the speaker said.

"But when we notice the almost hand to hand fight in which he was engaged, the slaughter upon the deck of his flagship, his passage from one vessel to another in an open boat, exposed to the direct fire of the enemy and then note how he took a second flagship and bore down upon his two formidable assailants and made them strike their colors in ten minutes, we see one worthy to rank with Lord Nelson, and all the great naval commanders in history. When he fought the battle he was not yet twenty-eight years of age, the age of Napoleon, at Lodi, and of Nelson, at Cape St. Vincent.

One of History's Great Heroes.

"We lay down the record of his life and drop a tear upon its tragic closing and we can truly place him among the great heroes of our history and thank God for the beneficence of his great example. Throughout his short and brilliant career he maintained the highest level of equanimity, patriotism and devotion to duty.

"We celebrate the centennial of this battle, not in the spirit of a triumphal victory of arms, but in the deep gratitude that one hundred years has not seen its repetition. No historical review can give as much satisfaction to him that hopes for permanent, international peace, as the contrast between the attitude of the two people then and now.

"And so we are here today to mark the receding of this beacon light of perpetual peace. Little could Perry have thought in the struggle that he had in building his puny fleet, in the stress he was under in the height of battle, in the victory that he announced in his famous words to General Harrison, that his work would be remembered for one hundred years as the harbinger of perpetual peace, and while we venerate the energy, the intrepidity, the patriotism, the self-sacrifice that brought him and his men their great triumphs, today we cherish not so much its evidence of American manhood and love of country as the teaching that its memory brings to the world of the practical possibility of unending love and peace between international neighbors."

Following these exercises, the official party re-embarked for Cedar Point for the banquet, which was expected to be attended by 1,000 guests and 500 spectators.

Congressman Milton W. Shreve, of the Pennsylvania commission, will deliver an address of welcome in behalf of the interstate board, and Rev. Charles H. Herr, of Toledo, will deliver the invocation, whereupon Hon. John H. Clarke, president of the Ohio commission, is to be introduced as toastmaster.

Many Prominent Speakers.

The following were on the program for responses:

Governor James M. Cox, Ohio, "Ohio and the Perry Centennial;" Governor John K. Tener, Pennsylvania, "The Keystone of Patriotism;" Governor James B. McCreary, Kentucky, "Kentucky in the War of 1812;" Governor Edward F. Dunne, Illinois, "American Progress Made Possible by the Battle of Lake Erie;" Governor Aram J. Pothier, Rhode Island, "Commodore Perry, the Commander and the Man;" Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris, Michigan, "Lewis Cass, Michigan's Hero in the War of 1812;" Governor Francis E. McGovern, Wisconsin, "The Relations of the English-Speaking Peoples Since the War of 1812;" Governor William Sulzer, New York, "The War of 1812 the Precursor of a Century of Peace;" Governor Samuel M. Ralston, Indiana, "Arbitration or War;" Mrs. William Gerry Slade, president National Society of United States Daughters of the War of 1812, "Our Society and Its Work;" Lieutenant-General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, "Our Federal Government Forgets Not Her Heroes;" Dr. John A. MacDonald, "Canada and the United States;" William H. Taft, "The Measure of a Nation's True Success."

THAW THURST OUT OF CANADA BY MAIN FORCE

the Connecticut river into New Hampshire at 10 o'clock. Throughout the trip Thaw made no attempt to conceal his identity. The first stop in New Hampshire was made at West Stewartstown, where Thaw stood in the village square for ten minutes, talking freely with those gathered about him. He was very nervous and tried again, unsuccessfully to get in touch with his mother and attorneys.

After leaving West Stewartstown Thaw stopped at the farm of Mrs. Martha Appleton, where he entered the kitchen and asked for permission to use the telephone. Again he failed to connect either with Montreal or with Colebrook, where court was in session and whose he wished to engage a New Hampshire attorney. After leaving Mrs. Appleton's farm Thaw proceeded about five miles down the road when he was arrested by Sheriff Drew.

DEPORTATION OF THAW.

Coaticook, Que., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw, removed forcibly from his quarters here today, is now in American territory traveling in an automobile with a number of American newspaper reporters. The Matteawan fugitive was dropped over the border by the Canadian authorities into Vermont. Alone, dazed and free he did not know what to do.

The newspaper men following him took him into their car and are now traveling with him. Already they have passed from Vermont into New Hampshire. As the car progresses the newspaper men report Thaw's movements.

The situation Harry Thaw finds himself in today is by far the most extraordinary that has marked the progress of his sensational case since he fled from Matteawan insane asylum August 17.

Believing this morning that he was being kidnaped, he resisted forcibly his removal from Coaticook, only to find that the outcome of his quick dash in an automobile to American territory was to bring him unexpected freedom and place him in the hands of the men who up to the present time had devoted their energies to the reporting of his case.

Fugitive Was Dazed.

Thaw was dazed at the suddenness of the events of the morning; without his array of legal counsel he did not know where to turn for advice. After brief consultation with the newspaper men the automobile hired by the reporters, with Thaw in it, went on to Averill.

Here a brief stop was made, and by 10 o'clock he had crossed the Vermont line into New Hampshire.

Armed with written orders to deport Thaw, issued by C. J. Doherty, acting minister of the interior, at Ottawa, E. Blake Robertson, assistant superintendent of immigration, came unheralded to Coaticook last night. He told no one of his plans except subordinates necessary to aid in executing them and two Dominion policemen.

Accompanied by his subordinates and the two policemen, Robertson went to Thaw's quarters in the detention pen shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. They found Thaw fed and dressed, and about to start on what he calls his day's work. Robertson, as spokesman for the group, told Thaw that he had orders to deport him to Vermont.

Thaw could not have been more surprised had he been told that he was set free. Before Thaw could reply Robertson ordered him to get ready at once for the trip, adding that an automobile was waiting for the dash to the border.

Thaw Becomes Furious.

Thaw's surprise changed to fury in a moment. He refused to go and picking up a bottle hurled it at Robertson. The missile went wide of its target, crashed through a window and broke on the roadway outside. Robertson and his men seized the prisoner and forcibly ejected him from the room. As Thaw was thus unceremoniously carried down the stairs to the automobile he kicked and fought his captors, shouting that he was being kidnaped. Robertson sought to quiet him with assurances that the proceeding was entirely regular and that his cries were futile. The two Dominion policemen aided actively in placing Thaw in the automobile. With the prisoner safe the entire party, policemen and all, entered the car and was whirled away to the border.

A knot of newspaper writers gathered outside the building and watched the struggle. Except for the principals, they were the only persons in Coaticook who knew what was going on. One of the lawyers here representing New York state was notified of the plant to deport Thaw and none of Thaw's lawyers had an inkling of what was in the air. They were dumbfounded when they learned later what had happened.

Thaw was fifteen miles away well on the road to the international line before the newspaper squad learned what had happened. They followed him. He crossed the line near Norton Mills at 8:55 o'clock.

When he was well within the state the immigration officials stopped their car, deposited him on the ground, told him he was a free agent and drove back to the Canadian border.

WAS A FREE MAN.

Averill, Vt., Sept. 10.—Thaw arrived here at 9 a. m. He had been released by the Canadian immigration authorities when his automobile crossed the Vermont line at Norton's Mills, four miles away, and at this hour was an absolutely free man, as nobody representing the state of New York or the state of Vermont was on hand to take him.

At Norton's Mills Thaw left the automobile of the Canadian immigration authorities and climbed into the automobile of several correspondents who had accompanied him and made the journey to Averill in their company. He said this his sudden departure was a surprise and that his plans were all in the air.

Thaw was a very much astonished man when the Canadian immigration officials told him at Norton's Mills he was free to go where he pleased. He got out of the Canadian automobile and stood gazing helplessly around. Newspaper men who had followed offered him in their car. He gladly accepted the offer.

"This thing has been such a surprise to me," he said, "that I don't know yet what I shall do."

CROSSES INTO NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Beecher Falls, Vt., Sept. 10.—Racing across the top of Vermont in an automobile with two newspaper correspondents, Harry K. Thaw crossed the Connecticut river at 10:10 a. m. today and stopped for a while at West Stewartstown in the state of New Hampshire. On reaching Norton Mills, Vt., where he had been taken by the Dominion immigration officials, he entered the automobile and proceeded to Averill, a small country village where he had breakfast at the inn. Engaging another car, the Matteawan fugitive and the correspondents passed through Canaan and then crossed the river into New Hampshire.

Thaw's haste to leave Vermont was probably due to his knowledge that a warrant for his arrest was awaiting service in the state.

Thaw had no plans for the future. His deportation was a complete surprise to him and he was in a great state of excitement during his flight across the northern part of Vermont.

Up to the time he crossed the Connecticut river no step to interfere with his flight was taken and he believed that Vermont and New Hampshire authorities had not been informed of his removal from Canada.

Thaw knew his route perfectly, apparently having studied it in detail before leaving Matteawan. The last heard from here, he was returning south by the same road he took when he fled towards Canada.

MINISTER DOHERTY EXPLAINS.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 10.—C. J. Doherty, as acting minister of the interior department, today said he had rejected Thaw's appeal from the decision of the immigration board of inquiry, upholding the findings of the board and ordering the deportation of Thaw forthwith. This order was carried out this morning. The writ of habeas corpus or writ of prohibition issued at Montreal, said Mr. Doherty, did not enjoin the immigration authorities from taking this step:

"I issued the warrant for the deportation of Thaw, which has been acted upon this morning. I did it in pursuance of my duty as acting minister of the interior," said Judge Doherty.

"I assume full responsibility for the deportation. The action has been taken after careful consideration. What was done was merely to carry out the law."

Judge Doherty explained that the Canadian immigration law directed the seizure of persons who were suspected of being undesirable, their examination by a board of inquiry and deportation. Thaw was suspected, seized, examined, condemned as undesirable and now has been sent back whence he came and by the same route," added Judge Doherty.

"What about the court orders, the writ of prohibition and the writ of habeas corpus?" he was asked.

"There has been a good deal of misunderstanding on those points," replied Judge Doherty. "There was no writ of prohibition directed to the authorities who had Thaw in custody. As for the writ of habeas corpus it was directed to the officer who had Thaw in custody before the board of inquiry took action. It directed the official to produce Thaw on Mnday. By the operation of the immigration law Thaw passed from the possession of the officer to where the writ of habeas corpus had been directed. He came by operation of the law into possession of other officials. There was no court order restricting them and nothing to prevent them executing the warrant for deportation."

"New York asked that Thaw be sent back to that state instead of to some other point on the international boundary. Was that point considered before action was taken?" he was asked.

"Yes," replied Judge Doherty. "It was considered and we found the law directs that an undesirable be deported by the route by which he entered the country. That is what we have done."

Attorneys here say Thaw's counsel blundered in failing to have the writs directed to the Canadian minister of justice instead of to the minor officials.

NEW YORK STATE'S PLAN.

New York, Sept. 10.—It was learned today that it was the plan of the New York state authorities to bring Harry K. Thaw direct to Matteawan in an automobile which whisked him away from the detention pen at Coaticook at 8 o'clock this morning. This plan embraced a continuous ride without stop in Vermont, New Hampshire or anywhere else along the way—except, perhaps for meals—until Thaw should be safe within the walls of the hospital for the criminal insane, which has housed him for more than five years.

In attempting to carry out this program the New York state officials are maintaining toward Thaw an attitude from which they have not diviated during the present proceedings—that of guardian and ward. They have contended all along that their position toward him is parallel to that of an individual toward a minor and there is nothing in state or international laws to change this position.

It was the contention of Thaw's custodians that they had the right, as his legal guardians, to bring him back to New York without asking the permission of the authorities of any state through which they might pass on their way.

A requisition on the governor of Vermont for the return to New York state of Harry K. Thaw was signed by Acting Governor Glynn recently and sent on for use in the event of Thaw being returned to the Vermont border by the immigration officials of Canada. Mr. Glynn was advised today of the latest move in the Thaw case, but declined to comment on it. Superintendent John B. Riley, of the state prison department, expressed surprise when informed that Thaw was within the boundaries of Vermont. "I hope he will be in Matteawan by night," he remarked.

William T. Jerome and Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy spent the night at Manchester, Vt., on their way to Albany.

THAW'S LAWYERS DUMBFOUNDED.

Montreal, Sept. 10.—The members of Thaw's family and his lawyers here were dumbfounded when they learned that the fugitive had been deported.

"I am simply paralyzed," said J. N. Greenshields, K. C., the leader of Thaw's band of lawyers. "I cannot understand it. With a writ of prohibition and habeas corpus out it seems to me to be utterly impossible to believe. It is all beyond me. It certainly is a disgrace to the country and to our administration of law. All we can do, if Thaw has been forced across the line, is to bring Robertson, the assistant superintendent of the immigration department, before the court of King's Bench, but what good will that do us?"

Mr. Greenshields received a telegram from Thaw's secretary notifying him that Thaw had been taken to Norton Mills, Vt.

William Kown, another of the Thaw counsel, said: "Deportation of Thaw in face of the writ of habeas corpus certainly looks like contempt of the court of appeals."

ASTONISHED JEROME.

Manchester, Vt., Sept. 10.—William Travers Jerome, New York's special representative in the Thaw case, learned unofficially of the deportation of Thaw from Canada an hour after the Matteawan fugitive had been put over the line into this state. Canadian officials, he said, had promised to notify him of any steps taken and he was awaiting such official notification.

Mr. Jerome left Manchester at noon by automobile for North Adams, Mass., where he was notified of the arrest of Thaw at Colebrook. He said he would proceed on the first train to that town. He expressed great surprise that the Canadian officials had not notified him of their intention to deport Thaw.

OFFICIALS SURPRISED.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The sudden deportation of Harry K. Thaw from Canada today surprised the New York state authorities nearly as much as did his escape from the Matteawan hospital on August 17. As soon as the circumstances surrounding Thaw's entrance into the United States was learned, Acting Governor Glynn and Attorney General Carmondy wired the governors of Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and Massachusetts to have the fugitive apprehended and held pending application for his extradition. The New York city police also were notified to send out a general alarm for Thaw's capture.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

DR. DICKEY GOES TO EUROPE.

To Secure Speakers for the Mid-Winter Bible Conferences.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 10.—Dr. S. C. Dickey, secretary and general manager of the Winona Assembly, started Tuesday on a trip to Europe. He was accompanied by Mrs. Dickey, and they expect to sail on the Mauretania. The purpose of Mr. Dickey's visit abroad is to secure speakers for the mid-winter Bible conferences that he will conduct during the coming winter, and also to close contracts with the speakers who are to appear on the Winona program next summer. Dr. Campbell Morgan, who was one of the principal speakers here this season, will sail on the same vessel with Dr. Dickey, and plans for future work in these great religious meetings will be discussed by them during their journey.

CLAIMS FORT WAYNE AS HOME.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 10. Ellsworth Davis, the young man arrested at Fort Wayne a few days ago on a charge of failure to provide for his children, this morning filed a plea in abatement through his attorneys, Merriman & Bailey, which asserts that the defendant is not a resident of this county and cannot be brought to trial on the charge here. Davis alleges that he moved his family to Fort Wayne from this county and claims his wife filed suit for divorce from him in the Allen circuit court. He also claims that she had him put in jail as an insane person and he was held for a week before he was declared sane. The defendant claims his wife left him and returned to this county after living in Fort Wayne and alleges that any case against him should be filed in the Allen county courts.

MRS. HINE RECEIVES HONOR.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Jane Hine, of Sedan, was surprised to receive a personal letter from Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president of the United States, inviting her to attend a costumed bird party at the summer home of the president at Cornish, New Hampshire, on Friday, Sept. 12. The daughters of the president take a leading part in the function. Mrs. Wilson is one of the officials of the Audubon society and has made bird study one of her occupations. On account of her age and feeble condition it will be impossible for Mrs. Hine to make the long journey. Among all bird students and lovers Mrs. Hine is known as a woman who has studied birds in their native haunts and has given to the world the result of her personal observation of the habits of the "birds of the air."

AUBURN WOMAN FIRE HEROINE.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 10. While others shrunk with fear and fire threatened complete disaster to the H. C. McClung automobile garage at 809 North Main street late Monday night, Mrs. B. W. Beidler, wife of a Seventh street shoeman, and her sixteen-year-old son, Herbert, broke down the bolted door, entered the burning structure and pushed to safety the large seven passenger automobile belonging to McClung. The fire caused the practical destruction of the garage, which was covered with insurance. Besides the automobile belonging to McClung, an Auburn five passenger car, the property of Wilson Dennison was stored in the garage. It is believed by both Dennison and McClung that the fire had its origin in the electric light wires near the roof.

ENDS FORTY YEARS' SERVICE.

Plymouth, Ind., Sept. 10.—James A. Gilmore, for forty years cashier of the First National bank of Marshall county, today tendered his resignation and will retire from public life. Mr. Gilmore came to Plymouth forty years ago today and assumed charge of the bank. He was then a young man and has grown old in the bank's service. Prior to his coming to Plymouth he was in the mercantile business in Warsaw. The success of the First National bank is acknowledged to be largely due to the business sagacity of the retiring cashier. In the past four decades Mr. Gilmore has not only been identified with the interests of the bank, but has been a factor in the progress of the city.

KENDALLVILLE BARBERS BOOST.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 10.—The barbers of this city at their last meeting adopted a new scale of prices in which the price of plain shaves has been raised to 15 cents. The new rate for a scrape includes a neck shave. The barbers give the increased cost of living as the reason for the rise in the price of a shave.

HOW TO GET FAT

Use Samose, Says Druggists Meyer Bros. Co., and Put On Good Flesh.

The almost universal interest in physical culture is the best evidence that can be offered as to the need of a simple and scientific method of making thin people fat, increasing strength and restoring health.

Athletics, when carried to an extreme, often result in straining the vital organs. How much better it would be for the average person to regain health, strength and flesh by using Samose. This flesh forming food is assimilated as soon as it enters the stomach; it helps the organs to assimilate the food and extract the flesh forming elements; it builds up the muscles and rounds out the limbs into shapely plumpness.

Samose has been so successful in making thin people fat and restoring the weak and run down to strength and health that Meyer Bros. Co., the popular druggists, sell it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not benefit. adv.

GARRETT SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 15.

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 10.—The Garrett public schools will not open until Sept. 15, which is one week later than usual. This is due to the north side building not being completed. Two extra rooms are being added to this building as there are so many more pupils than in former years. Prof. Francis M. Merica will begin his eighteenth year as superintendent of the Garrett city schools. Mr. Merica has been a very successful instructor and manager of this educational system. STRIKE AT AUBURN.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 10.—Finishing work on the new DeKalb county court house here has encountered another delay in a strike of twelve men engaged on the marble work. The walk out was due to the refusal of the marble men to permit a workman sent here to do the work on the skagula, or imitation marble, to place that material, claiming it belonged to them. Each branch of the work has been let to a different contractor. J. B. Goodall, who has the general contract, said he had no authority to interfere with the skag worker and the marble men quit. Sub-contractors are expected here to settle the difficulty. Twelve marble men are out, but the skag man is still at work.

INVITES GOVERNOR RALSTON.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 10.—Prominent citizens of Bluffton have just forwarded to Governor Samuel M. Ralston an invitation to visit the city during the coming street fair. It is planned to have a "governor's day" and make the occasion the record-breaker for the fair. Among those who signed the letter were W. A. Kunkel, Frank Dailey, John Morris, Abe Simmons, Judge Vaughn, Judge W. H. Eichhorn and others. In the letter attention is called to the fact that Wells county was the first county in the state to instruct its delegates for Ralston. Those in position to know are confident that Governor Ralston will come and probably deliver a short address.

LITTLE GIRL LOSES FOOT.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 10.—Gladys Miller, aged nine years, oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, living twelve miles southwest of this city, near New Pittsburg, had her right foot almost severed by a mower. The child was playing in a field near the home where her father was cutting clover, and she jumped in front of the machine before Mr. Miller knew she was near. The end of the sharp blade cut through the ankle bone, the foot hanging only by a small shred of flesh.

HOG CHOLERA CAUSES SUIT.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 10. Through Attorney A. W. Hamilton, John M. Whicker has filed suit for $200 damages against Wellington M. Cotton. The paintiff alleges the defendant held a farm sale August 27 and offered for sale nineteen pigs. The plaintiff says the defendant told him the pigs were all in a healthy condition and he bought them for $106.85. Whicker alleges that as soon as he took them home the pigs were found to be afflicted with hog cholera and many of them died. Judgment in the sum of $200 is asked.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 10.—David Polm, aged 73 years, and a resident of Geneva, had a narrow escape from serious injury at that place, when he fell from the southbound Grand Rapids passenger train due here at 9 o'clock. His daughter, Mrs. Frank Hodge, and two children were returning to this city from a visit with her parents and Mr. Polm boarded the train to assist his daughter and family onto the cars. Before he could alight from the car the train started and he was dragged a considerable distance.

LIGHTNING CAUSES BIG LOSS.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 10.—In Huntington, Wells and Wabash counties a loss of over $20,000 has resulted from buildings being struck by lightning since June 14, according to J. C. Wearley, secretary of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance company. Of that amount, however, about $10,000 was paid for actual loss to buildings, the other being carried in live stock. In no case among the sixteen losses was the building completely burned to the ground if equipped with lightning rods. Only those not so equipped were entirely destroyed.

ATTENDANCE OF 3,000.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 10. Over three thousand ministers attended the Bible conference at Winona in August. THIRTY YEARS A COOK.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 10.—The art of cooking is a great one, and Decatur has many good cooks. Probably the best professional cook in the city, one who has made a good record and whose cooking is most like the much-desired "cooking that mother used to do," is Miss Maggie Smith, of North Third street. Miss Smith has been a professional cook for very nearly thirty years, and the most wonderful thing is that she was employed the greater part of that time in one restaurant in this city.

GARRETT EAGLES' CARNIVAL.

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 10.—The Eagles' carnival opened in this city Monday. Although the various concessions were not all up until noon, the streets were crowded with people early in the afternoon and until after midnight. Big crowds are expected every day this week, although Friday and Saturday are looked for as record-breakers.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Ezra 8:21-32.

21 Then I proclaimed a fast there, at the river of Ahava, that we might afflict ourselves before our God, to seek of him a right way for us, and for our little ones, and for all our substance.

22 For I was ashamed to require of the king a band of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy in the way, because we had spoken unto the king, saying, The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek him; but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.

23 So we fasted and besought our God for this; and he was intreated of us.

24 Then I separated twelve of the chief of the priests, Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them.

25 And weighed unto them the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, even the offering of the house of our God, which the king, and his counsellers, and his lords, and all Israel there present, had offered.

26 I even weighed unto their hand six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and silver vessels an hundred talents, and of gold an hundred talents;

27 Also twenty basons of gold, of a thousand drams; and two vessels of fine copper, precious as gold.

28 And I said unto them, Ye are holy unto the Lord; the vessels are holy also; and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering unto the Lord God of your fathers.

29 Watch ye, and keep them, until ye weigh them before the chief of the priests and the Levites, and chief of the fathers of Israel, at Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of the Lord.

30 So took the priests and the Levites the weight of the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, to bring them to Jerusalem unto the house of our God.

31 Then we departed from the river of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go unto Jerusalem; and the hand of our God was upon us, and he delivered us from the hand of the enemy, and of such as lay in wait by the way.

32 And we came to Jerusalem and abode there three days.

School Board's Wise Action

In planning to enlarge the high school facilities of Fort Wayne the board of school trustees has acted with wisdom in its steps to set a high school on the south side. The present accommodations must very soon be enlarged. There are several vital reasons why the city should abandon any effort to concentrate the high school facilities where they now are. The growth of the school will dictate before long if it has not done so already a separation of the manual training department from the literary department. The training department has a great future. It embraces a branch of education whereof the scope and usefulness will constantly increase. It will have directly an importance and magnitude likely to make impracticable any attempt to keep it under the same roof with the other high school departments. The location of the high school is such that future development of the city in that region will doubtless in time counsel its abandonment for that purpose. The city ought not to increase its investment there. Another point to be considered is that the center of population in Fort Wayne is steadily moving southward. There is no indication that the movement in that direction will be arrested for a very long period if it ever is. High school accommodations for that vast and rapidly growing region must be provided, and it is the part of wisdom to look ahead and take into account the coming of necessities whose demands will at no distant day be imperative. The school board is taking a far and wise view.

The democratic tariff bill has passed the senate and will go to conference for adjustment of the differences between house and senate as to some details of the measure. That this will be soon accomplished admits of no doubt in the light of President Wilson's performances as a legislative diplomat and manager. The bill has suffered little through its prolonged consideration by the senate and in all essential respects it is the measure that had the president's approval at the outset. There will be little delay to bring the two branches of congress to agreement and the measure will be signed and made the law. President Wilson will have no occasion, as President Cleveland had when the last democratic tariff was presented to him nineteen years ago, to spurn it as the creature of "perfidy and dishonor" and refuse to give it the approval of his signature. It will be the administration's tariff law.

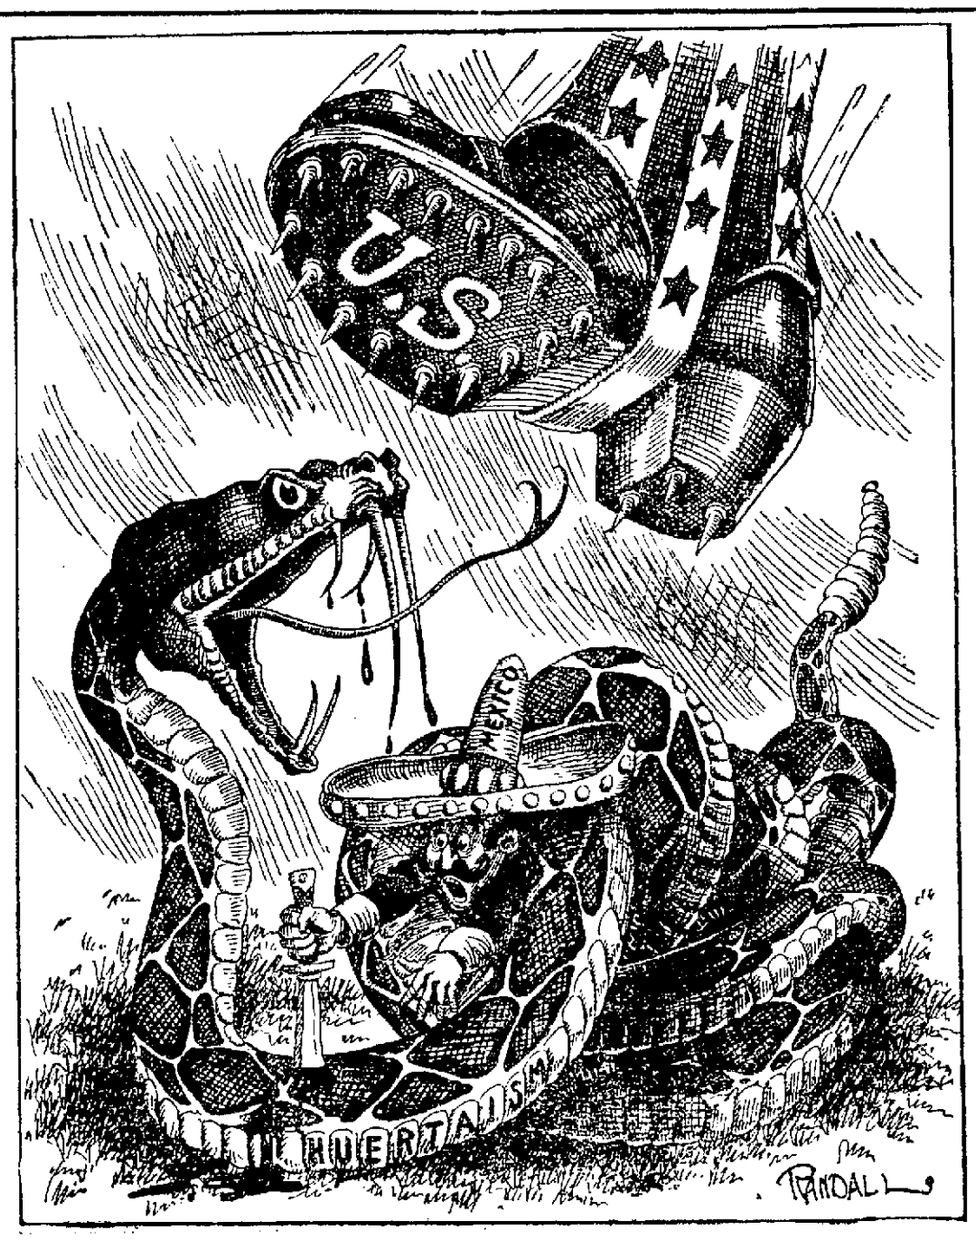
Perhaps the city council can find plausible excuses for playing politics with the proposal to reorganize the detective branch of the police department, but it can find none for trifling with the police matron matter. The law mandates the appointment of a police matron, and common sense and humanity supplement the legal obligation. It is unfortunate that this important measure should have come up at this juncture, but since it did the council should have met the situation with some sense of the duty it imposed. Action on the matter ought to be reconsidered at the next meeting.

Eight years ago, when William J. Hosey was a candidate for mayor, he was blatting all over town what he was going to do with the gas rates. He didn't do it. That anything was done was in spite of the mess he made of his negotiations from which the city was rescued by the federal court. The first Hosey administration is past and gone, thank heaven! The issue is whether or not there is going to be the calamity of another like it.

It may be "executive interference" and "presidential law-making," but Woodrow Wilson has got a tariff bill through congress that has in detail and purpose some definite relations to the promises of the platform on which he was elected.

As to Mr. LaFollette's keynote speech it is sufficient to say that he is not running for the mayoralty of Fort Wayne.

CAN MEXICO BE SAVED FROM THE SERPENT OF PERSONAL GOVERNMENT FOR PRIVATE ENDS?



MUST BEGIN AT HOME.

(Indianapolis Star.)

Editor Bok's sharp criticism of the bad English and poor spelling of college graduates, both men and women, is still a subject of discussion that in some quarters is rather acrimonious. One response to the strictures, evidently felt by its originator to be crushing, is that Mr. Bok's English is also faulty, but as the gentleman in question is not a college graduate the argument loses its point. Another defender of the students affects to believe that they answered Mr. Bok's questions in a spirit of burlesque and should not have been taken seriously—a theory that does not improve matters greatly.

It may as well be accepted as a fact that a very large number of high school and college graduates show serious deficiencies in their use of English, for the faults have been noted by many other observers than Mr. Bok. To defend the students, then, is not pertinent; the one thing to consider is the cause of the educational deficit and its remedy. Different causes have been suggested and different ones no doubt exist. As the Star pointed out, when commenting on the subject recently, the primary schools, rather than the colleges, are responsible for bad spelling and the inability to write simple English correctly. This foundation of education should be laid early, and if it is not gained after eight or ten years in primary and preparatory schools it is not likely to be acquired at all.

But, after all, that child has the best chance to secure the proper equipment in language who constantly hears correct language at home and who is reared in a home where a habit of reading prevails. Teachers even of small children are able to discern which of their pupils come from educated families and which from those careless of speech and lacking in general culture. To hear correct speech constantly is half of an education in itself. A child may go out in the street and pick up such phrases as "I seen," "I ain't got no," "me and him went" and the like, but he does not retain these faults. They slip away from him as he grows older and he forgets that he ever used them, whereas to the boy who hears this speech at home it is likely to cling for life and betray his illiterate origin, however he may hope to overcome it.

In other words, home influence is stronger than that of the schools in such matters; the familiar language of the fireside has a stronger hold than the acquired speech of the schools. What is true of spoken language is true of reading. A child in a reading family not only possesses information that his less favored companions do not have, but he acquires inevitably a habit which teachers may try in vain to establish among other pupils. He learns to love books, and so has a resource that serves him well through life. It is seldom that one with such environment shows deficiencies in his spoken or written English. The moral is obvious. The parents should be educated as well as the child if the latter is to be at his best.

MRS. PANKHURST'S COMING.

(New York World.)

Among woman suffragists the coming of Mrs. Pankhurst is awaited with misgivings. As the foremost exponent of methods of violence, it is easy to foresee, the British militant is likely to hurt more than help the cause of equal rights in this country. Much will depend upon the attitude maintained toward her by the American leaders of the movement. They have to deal with a public which has no sympathy with arson and bombs, and which is yielding more and more readily to orderly agitation and appeals to common sense.

Even that section of local suffragists most disposed to idolize Mrs. Pankhurst is careful to explain that in tendering her a dinner it "in no way implicates its executive board or its members in any approval of the use of physical force in political revolution." This leaves it somewhat in doubt whether they believe that "physical force" is good only for Englishmen, or whether it is good for neither Englishmen nor Americans. As a rebel Mrs. Pankhurst is to be welcomed; as a defender of incendiarism she is not to be judged.

It would be better for the American suffrage movement if Mrs. Pankhurst would stay away. But America has the same attractions for her that it has for so many foreign lecturers. It has an insatiable curiosity for celebrities, and as the woman who has played at "cat-and-mouse" with the British government and made it ridiculous she is a good drawing card. Only let all good suffragists pray that during her brief stay she will not preach arson and will do nothing to split the ranks of suffragists here as she has so successfully done in Great Britain, where the great body of suffrage organizations take pains to advertise that they are non-militant.

HARD RAP FOR AMERICAN COURTS.

(Boston Transcript.)

Ex-President Taft's criticism at Montreal of the American judicial system is the theme of an outspoken editorial in the London Times, which says:

"Mr. Taft's pronouncement is bound to intensify misgivings which many Americans have come to feel in the efficiency of their state courts and the system on which they are based. It would be mere flattery to pretend that judges at these tribunals have anything like the standing of our own judiciary. The great and growing lack of confidence in state courts, in their honesty and impartiality, as well as in their technical efficiency, is one of the most disquieting phenomena observable in America today. What the United States needs more than anything else is a reformer of the Jeremy Bentham type, to restore common sense to its codes and simplicity to the administration. The criminal procedure, especially, of America today is very much as ours was in the time of the Stuarts. It is hopelessly enmeshed in technicalities and neglects justice and perspective to chase after impossible infallibility of form.

"It is hardly, indeed, too much to say in criminal cases as conducted in the United States that it is not the prisoner in the dock, but the judge on the bench who really is on trial. It is the fetish worship of forms and rules that makes judicial procedure in America a hindrance to justice and a comfort to criminals, and too many decisions of state courts on social, industrial and constitutional issues seem to have been formed with the same quibbling spirit. They have lost touch with life; they have grown petrified in pettifogging abstractions, and no problem that confronts the American people is more urgent or cuts deeper than the problem of how to lead them back to reality and common sense."

AVOID THE BRONCHIAL COUGHS OF EARLY FALL.

The changeable weather of early fall brings on bronchitis and a hard cough that is wearing on the system, and seems to tear open the bronchial tubes and mucus lining of the throat. CONVICTED OUT OF HIS OWN MOUTH

Mr. Hosey Asserts That Mr. Paul Had Offered the City a Better Price for Gas Than 90 and 85 Cents.

Editor Daily Sentinel:

The Non-Partisan platform asserts that at one time during the gas controversy the city was offered a contract for gas at 85 cents; that Mr. Hosey rejected that offer and that, as a consequence of such rejection, our people were compelled to pay 90 cents per thousand for gas for five years when they might have had it at 85 cents during all that time.

The Journal-Gazette accuses the platform committee of the citizens movement of having stated a falsehood in making that assertion, and every twenty-four hours it gets black in the face over it.

Well, let us see about that. When you can prove a man guilty out of his own mouth you have even better evidence than that which others can give against him. In an attempt to disprove the assertion made in the Non-Partisan platform, the Journal-Gazette publishes a letter from Mr. Hosey to Mr. Paul, in reply to an offer of Mr. Paul's, as receiver for the gas company, which letter, it seems to me, clearly bears out the contention of the Non-Partisans. Mr. Hosey writes:

> "In reply to the offer made by you to the effect that you would recommend the bondholders committee in New York to settle the gas situation here by entering into a contract in which the price of gas would be fixed as follows: Ninety cents for five years and 85 cents for the next succeeding five years," etc.

This proposition Mr. Hosey refuses and note carefully the ground on which he refuses. Here are his words taken from his letter published by the Journal-Gazette:

> "You will see that the offer you now make is not as advantageous to the city as was the offer that Mr. Paul made at a previous meeting."

Now, if Mr. Paul, according to Mr. Hosey, had at a previous meeting made a better offer than 90 cents for five years and 85 cents for the next five years, what was that offer? Will the Journal-Gazette tell us?

Perhaps, however, we had better look for the answer in this same letter of Mr. Hosey's. He says:

> "At one time during our negotiations with a view to settlement, at a meeting with Messrs. Paul and Barrett, Mr. Paul suggested that if the city would offer to enter into a contract with the company giving the right to supply gas at 85 cents per one thousand cubic feet that he, Mr. Paul and Mr. Barrett would recommend the bond-holders' committee to enter into such contract."

Right there, in these words of Mr. Hosey, as well as elsewhere, is the proof of the truth of the assertion in the Non-Partisan platform, that he refused an offer of 85 cent gas for a ten-year period, and later, by his obstinacy, caused our people to pay 90 cents per thousand on all the gas they consumed for full five years. Is the proof not most convincing?

But let us still further clinch the case. Note carefully the reason given by Mr. Hosey for this refusal of the offer of 85 cent gas for ten years. At that time he says the offer was refused because the city was unwilling to pay 85 cents for more than five years. Here are his words taken from this same letter:

> "At that time the city was willing to enter into a contract to allow the company to charge 85 cents for gas for a period of five years, and eighty cents for the next succeeding period of five years."

This occurred after the unanimous report of the citizens' committee, made up largely from the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, which committee, after a very thorough investigation, recommended that the city accept an 85-cent rate as being as low a price as could be justly demanded of the company. But Mr. Hosey knew better than anybody else, refused the advice of everybody, went into court at a heavy expense to the taxpayers, including a fee of $5,000 for a special attorney, lost out and finally was forced to settle at a rate of 90 cents for the first five years, instead of 85 cents that he might have had. Now, if this be true, and if I can properly understand the English language as used by Mr. Hosey, it is true, and if the consumption of gas averaged 800,000 feet a day during that five years, Mr. Hosey in that one transaction put an additional burden of $73,000 upon our citizens.

G. O. P. WORKERS OPEN CAMPAIGN

LaTourette Denies He is Hosey Worker and Condemns Non-Partisans.

IN KEYNOTE SPEECH

Republicans who are supporting the straight republican ticket held a meeting Tuesday night at the assembly room of the court house and officially opened the G. O. P. speaking campaign. It is estimated that there were more than two hundred men and women present, and William H. LaTourette, the republican candidate for mayor, delivered his keynote address.

Standing beside a portrait of Abraham Lincoln and surrounded by Judge Benjamin W. Skelton and some of his committeemen, Mr. LaTourette made an effort to condemn the citizens' non-partisan ticket. He declared that he and other candidates on the stright republican ticket were not working for the election of William J. Hosey, the democratic candidate, and for about one hour he entertained an audience of non-partisans, democrats and republicans.

As chairman of the republican city central committee, Judge Skelton presided and among others who spoke was John Loth, the straight ticket candidate for city clerk. Judge Skelton reviewed the history of the republican party and urged the voters to rally to the support of Mr. LaTourette.

Is No Hosey Worker.

Mr. LaTourette indignantly denied the charge that he was the head of the Hosey side-show, and in doing so, said:

"I stand before you tonight as a clean man, an honest man and free from any selfish motives. I am the candidate of the republican party and have no agreement with any man. The charge that I am a first aid to Hosey is a lie and while I hate to call a man a liar, I am justified at this time in saying so. Now, they say that I am not known in Fort Wayne, but I have been a resident of Fort Wayne for the past twelve years and I have been more or less before the public, especially when I fought the $200,000 bond issue—and, by the way, the same men who were working for that bond issue are now actively identified with the 'independent' party. I was opposed to the bond issue when it was up and I am opposed to it and Fosterism yet.

Law Enforcement.

"The saloon is legalized by law and, while I am opposed to the saloon business and would wipe them out in Indiana if I could cast the deciding vote, yet they can run as long as the law says they can.

"But they must obey the law, and if I am ever mayor of Fort Wayne they will obey the law. I stand for the elimination of vice, but you can't eliminate it unless you keep at it all the time. I expect to keep at it, and vice cannot flourish under my administration."

Mr. LaTourette also denied the charge that democratic funds are being contributed toward keeping open the republican headquarters. He openly admitted, however, that some of the republicans had refused to contribute to the maintenance of the G. O. P. headquarters, and in discussing the matter he said:

"Every cent and every dollar of the money that has been used has been received in a legal way and it has been received from republicans, and thus headquarters have been kept open. A man has been paid to stay there and all expenses have been paid and with a very few exceptions there is few that have been delinquent and some there were who never paid, but the most of them, regardless of whether they went to the independent party or not, have kept up headquarters, and it is a republican headquarters. So there is nothing to that story furnished by men from the opposite side."

Against River Improvement.

In closing Mr. LaTourette rehashed the question of ownership of river banks and said:

"I am not in favor of owning the river banks, nor do I believe that it is necessary we should, but because that crowd has been beat out of buying the river banks, they are telling us what it will cost and what has been the message of the mayor. There isn't a pamphlet put out by the park board in which they don't speak of it. I am not in favor of Fosterism and if elected mayor of the city of Fort Wayne the present chairman of the park board will go way back and sit down. These river banks should be improved and the man that owns the river banks should be assessed.

"I believe I have said enough and I will make an appeal to you. If you have families of your own, if you are interested in the city of Fort Wayne, don't allow yourself to be hoodwinked in this kind of a way. The reason I talk in regard to myself is because I haven't a paper to tell it. I have got to tell it myself. The paper that should have stood for the republicans has gone with the independents because they could not have their own way when the nominations were made. We are before you as republican candidates and we are believing that you will stand by the republican ticket and if elected as mayor of the city of Fort Wayne I will serve you regardless of religion and regardless of politics as your mayor. I speak of these things not because I belong to the Baptist church in the city of Fort Wayne and am a member of the republican party, and therefore if elected mayor of the city of Fort Wayne I will be mayor of the whole city, and if the people of Fort Wayne do not want a clean city and have purity and all that is clean, if they don't want an economic city, don't you vote for me, because I stand for these principles."

Miss Jane Meriwether gave a party of much loveliness of appointment this afternoon in honor of her cousin, Miss Hadji Dawson. The guests, all of whom are near friends of Miss Dawson, took their sewing and spent an hour or so in visiting. Then the dining room was opened and the company invited there and seated at one table. Place cards were found—attached to bride dolls, but the cards were unusual as they were in envelopes that had been split open to permit of a sprig of orange blossoms to peep out. In the envelopes were invitations addressed to each one and personally inviting her to attend the wedding of Miss Dawson and Harold L. Wood, of Louisville, Ky., which will take place on Wednesday, Sept. 24, at 8 o'clock in the evening at the home of the bride in West Wayne street. There was no surprise, especially as the engagement of Miss Dawson and Mr. Wood was known to her nearest friends. But the beauty of the bride dolls and the interest in having invitations written by the bride herself, lent an unexpected charm. The table was also decorated with a profusion of coriopsis that filled a tall basket in the center of the table ando garden flowers decorated the house. The heartiest of congratulations were showered on the honor guest and good wishes for her happiness were many and extremely cordial. Not only has Miss Dawson been a very popular and charming hostess to her friends, but she has occupied a distinctive position in society by reason of her family connection, as well as for her own individuality. Miss Dawson is the only daughter of Judge U. M. Dawson, who, during his life, was a well known lawyer of the city, and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson, is widely known for her work in the Woman's league and other prominent interests in women's club life. For several years Miss Dawson did society and club work on the Daily News and thereby widened her acquaintance and made many warm friends. The only regret her friends have is that her marriage will take her from her home city to live. Mr. Wood is a son of Judge and Mrs. S. A. Wood. He holds a responsible position with the American Creosoting Co., in Louisville, and has many friends here. The guests this afternoon were Mesdames James Elliott, Nied McKay, Will McKay, Roger Fisher, Lawrence Eberbach, Miles Porter, jr., Hale Bradley, Dan Beers and Messrs. Alma Dreier, May Jewell Smith, Helen Harper, Jessie Orr, Helen Peters, Evelyn Fisher, Ruth Evans, Esther Fleming, Florence Lang, Alice Knight and Mrs. John Thompson, of Garrett.

Carter—Saylor.

A pretty home wedding of today takes place at the residence of Mrs. Julia E. Saylor, of 913 Lincoln avenue, in the marriage of her daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Saylor, to Mr. Charles Abbott Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Carter, of East Creighton avenue. The wedding service was read at 4 o'clock in the presence of the immediate relatives by Rev. A. J. Folsom, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church, of which the bride is an active member. Miss Maibel Carter sang "The Sweetest Flower That Blooms" and "A Dream" before the bridal party entered the parlor where the ceremony was performed in front of a decoration of palms and smilax that was festooned and tied with white satin ribbon. Miss Helen Lane presided at the piano and played the favorite selection from "Lohengrin." The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Georgia Saylor, and by her small niece, Patricia Price, who in dainty white frock and pink ribbons carried a basket of rose petals. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Howard Carter. The bride was given away by her mother. The bride, who is a very lovely young woman, wore a reception gown of blue chiffon combined with an underslip of pink chiffon over white charmeuse and trimmed with insets of brocaded velour and a garniture of princess lace about the neck and sleeves. The bridal bouquet was of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Georgia Saylor wore a reception gown of chiffon cloth with deep border of iris and shading from pastel tint to deep blue. A garniture of silver and gold lace marked the corsage and oriental lace formed the upper part of the bodice. The bridesmaid's flowers were melody roses. After the exchange of felicitations the wedding party was served a supper. The house was decorated in pink and white asters and cosmos and the diningroom where the bridal party sat, in yellow and white, a gold basket filled with garden flowers making a charming contrast to the rest of the scene. This evening the bride and groom leave for a two weeks' eastern trip. The bride will wear a handsome blue cloth tailored suit with stylish hat of gray pressed plush with white feather ornament and gray shoes and gloves. A blouse of white lace set off the girlish and attractive appearance of the bride. The groom is a salesman for the Fort Wayne Electric works and is especially popular with his personal friends and with business associates. He is a well known worker in the First Baptist church society of young men.

Berghoff—Labbe.

There was a pretty wedding at St. Mary's Catholic church at 9 o'clock this morning when Miss Marie Agnes Labbe and Mr. Hubert Lawrence Berghoff were married in the presence of many friends and relatives of the two families. Mgr. J. H. Oechtering celebrated the nuptial mass and in compliment to the groom, who is a member of the choir, the adult choir sang. The bride was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Elizabeth Berghoff, who was honor maid, and by Miss Edith Labbe as bridesmaid. Mr. Henry Berghoff attended his brother as best man and Messrs. John and Fred Berghoff ushered the wedding guests to their seats. The church was decorated with palms and ferns. The bride, a sweet looking young woman, made an extremely pretty appearance. She was gowned in a white charmeuse, made with a train and trimmed beautifully with oriental lace and beaded ornaments. The bride wore a veil caught to her hair with a beaded ornament and carried a shower bouquet of swansonia blossoms. The bride's only bit of jewelry was the wedding gift of the groom, a brooch of pearls. Miss Berghoff was gowned in blue chiffon with white lace overdress and she wore a blue hat trimmed with plumes and held bride roses. Miss Labbe, the bridesmaid, was very attractive in a dainty looking gown of lavender messaline made up with cream shadow lace. She wore a string of pearls in her hair and held a bouquet of pink roses that harmonized with her dress. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Labbe, of 812 Madison street, to the immediate members of the two families. Other relatives and intimate friends were invited to call this afternoon and there will be seventy-five guests at the supper. The house is decorated with palms and asters, pink, lavender and white being the predominating colors. The bride and groom will go to northern lake points for a few days and on their return will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. Labbe. The new home of the bride and groom is next door to the Labbe residence and is nearly completed. About the middle of October Mr. and Mrs. Berghoff will be at home to their friends there. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Berghoff, of East Jefferson street, and is employed as a bookkeeper at the Berghoff brewery. Mr. Herman Berghoff, of Chicago, was a guest at the wedding. For traveling the bride will wear a tan and green ratine suit and a satin hat of similar coloring.

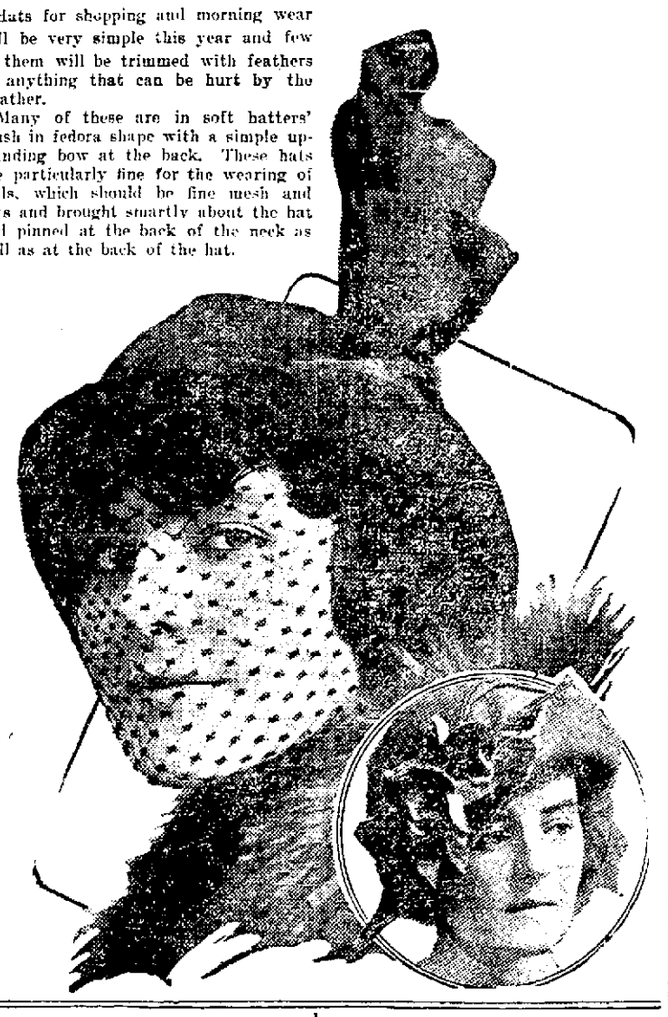
Meeting of Apollo Club.

A large proportion of the membership of the Apollo club met last night at the Commercial club to discuss the acquisition of a new musical director in place of John B. Archer, who is soon to leave the city. While regret was expressed at Mr. Archer's departure, much enthusiasm was manifested over the coming season's work. A committee was appointed to deal with the situation.



Hats for shopping and morning wear will be very simple this year and few of them will be trimmed with feathers or anything that can be hurt by the weather.

Many of these are in soft batters' plush in fedora shape with a simple upstanding bow at the back. These hats are particularly fine for the wearing of veils, which should be fine mesh and dots and brought smartly about the hat and pinned at the back of the neck as well as at the back of the hat.

"Peau de Peche" is the New Material for Fall Wear.

All soft pile goods will be much worn this season. A navy blue tailored suit made of peau de peche (skin of peach) cloth is here shown from Drecol, who, of all the big French designers, makes the most practical gowns.

The skirt is perfectly plain, with a slash at the side which enables one to walk.

The coat is of the usual design which is brought up in the front, making a curve under the hips. The one note of novelty in this wrap is the trimming which forms a muff.

AT THE TEMPLE

The bill at the Temple changes tomorrow afternoon and it will be some all feature bill, such as only booked by the Keith and Orpheum affiliations. The list of feature acts is topped by vaudeville's greatest sensation. Mermaida, who is America's most scientific lady shallow water diver and with her Mermaids will offer marvelous acquatic feats. Mermaida has some Merimads with her too, so if you think "chicken" can't swim, just drop in at the Temple. Other big features on the bill will be those two jolly fellows, McNish and McNish, with the original Frank McNish in "Bonehead frolics." The Capros Brothers, in marvelous equilibristic novelty. Graham and Randall in a comedy dramatic satire, entitle, "A Gay Old Boy." Keough Sisters will present their singing and dancing offering, which is one of the classiest in vaudeville and the girls are some good lookers, too. The first run photoplays completes a most attractive bill.

"Rock-a-Bye Baby" Tonight.

Tonight will be the last chance to see the big girl show which has been scoring such a big hit at the Temple, besides containing a number of popular songs, a large chorus, an excellent cast. It is a good, clean comedy with extremely funny lines and situations and deserved the large audiences they drew this week.

AT THE EMPRESS

When one thinks of a Venus it is always with the image in the mind's eye of a dainty, soft and rounded female form that is without strength other than that exerted by a feminine appeal. Katie Sandwina at the Empress theater has all of the beauty of face and figure of the pictured Venus and in addition to these charms has the strength of a Hercules. She has the panther-like attributes of swiftness and grace and the faculty of concealing great strength within soft, subtle curves. Carelessly and laughingly she tosses her companions around as though they were not flesh and bone but rather like mannikins made of rubber. There is in her demonstrations of strength that ease and grace that robs them of their actual effort. Miss Sandwina is the sixth generation of the Brumbach family to appear before the public as a professional strong person and Sandwina attributes her marvelous development to the laws of heredity. She is one of the most perfect women ever examined by Prof. Sargeant of Harvard. Her act is clever and entertaining and is preceded by a series of poses that are the incarnation of womanly charm and beauty.

AT THE JEFFERSON

An exceptionally good program of pictures is on at the Jefferson tonight. "Mother," a heart-interest story, featuring a mother who goes to the city to find her erring son. "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" is the song quoted at the beginning. Thursday comes a three reel production of "Robespierre," a masterpiece. An extra attraction, starting Thursday, is Bingham and Thornton, "ragtime to grand opera."

Madame Catherine's Chat.

"Doesn't it make you a wee bit homesick to think of leaving this cosy little shop?" asked the enthusiastic shopper, to whom Madame Catherine was describing the glories of her new home at 113 West Wayne street.

"I don't let myself look back," exclaimed the proprietor of the shop. "I realize that our move means prosperity but I shall always think with affection of the days in our first shop, and the loyal friends it has made for us."

"The new shop is to be much larger, I hear."

"You must come to our opening in September and see all our grandeur for yourself. We have been so busy with the removal sale, for everyone seems to need a new pair of stays for fall, or a new stock of brassieres, that I have scarcely had a minute to think of the new home. We shall have light from outside, instead of being obliged to depend upon electricity in the fitting rooms and then, instead of two, we shall have four rooms, which will make it twice as easy for our customers to be fitted quickly, as in the old quarters."

"Lots of new things to be shown at that time, I suppose?" queried her interviewer. "Wonderful new models from Paris with the long skirt, and extreme low bust," answered Madame, "as well as many other new models. It seems that every figure has a corset made for it this fall, and I can't see how any woman can escape looking her best if she will only allow our expert corsetieres to use their judgment in selecting the model that best suits her."

"I'm quite impatient to see the new things," declared the enthusiastic one, "and you may be sure I shall be right in the front row when the time comes."

"I hope so," laughed Madame.—Adv.

HOW TO REDUCE GROWING WEIGHT

Are you worried about your increasing weight? Are you consumed with anxiety to reduce? Very well. Here are a few rules that will make you successful in your fight against added pounds:

Never eat more than once a day, and then you should confine yourself to lean meats, fish and poultry. You should avoid starch foods, and go very lightly on potatoes, bread and sweets. The bulk of your diet should consist of fruit and green vegetables.

This may sound like Lenten fare, but we are talking now to the woman who is determined not to be fat. Then, again, the fleshy woman should not sleep more than seven hours out of the twenty-four. She should never lie in bed late in the morning, nor indulge in the rocking chair habit. On the other hand, she should get all the physical exercise she can possibly manage, preferably in the open air. The best all-around, general exercise—and one within the reach of all—is walking.

Most women—whether they are fat or thin—walk far too little. The woman who tends to be fleshy should walk for at least an hour every day—and do it regularly and systematically. As she gets accustomed to the exercise she should increase the number of miles she walks a day, until she is doing five miles.

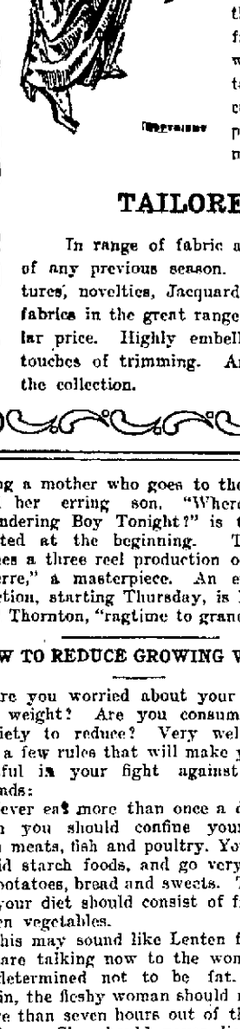
In the matter of Dress at this period of the new season, practically every woman has uppermost in her mind the buying of a

NEW TAILORED SUIT

In variety, in newness of styles, in beauty of fabrics, in prices, our showing of the new tailored suits offers wonderful inducements for a most satisfactory selection.



TAILORED SUITS AT $15.00

Three of the nobbiest models ever designed to be offered at this unusually low price. All wool cheviot and grained serge are the fabrics from which they are made. The beauty of them bespeaks the style trend of the new season. The long cutaway coats, with the latest panel back, the pretty trimming effects, the excellent quality of lining, the good quality of fabrics, all aid in forming values that are practically incomparable for the price.

TAILORED SUITS AT $18.50

Mottled Fancy Worsteds and Wide Grained Cheviot are fabrics that have aided in producing several very smart suits along the strictly tailored lines. The splendid cut of both, coats and skirts in either style, reflects the newness of these splendid models. The good quality of fabrics and the fineness of linings together with the standard of tailoring give the best claim to the high values for the price.

TAILORED SUITS AT $22.50

We here direct your attention to one of the best values at a popular price. Made from a very high grade chiffon broadcloth with a beautiful finish. The style is strictly tailored, the coat being cut in fashionable cutaway style and lined in Skinner satin. A pretty draped skirt adds to the beauty of the model.

TAILORED SUITS AT $25.00

In range of fabric and styles our present showing is far ahead of any previous season. Wool poplin, faile, matelasse, Scotch mixtures, novelties, Jacquards, chiffon broadcloths, are some of the new fabrics in the great range of more than ordinary values for this popular price. Highly embellished or plain tailored, or suits with just touches of trimming. Any woman can very readily be suited from the collection.

Remarkable Price Making on Ladies Fall Suits

Women who are interested in popular priced suits for Fall will do well to see the charming designs that one of our enterprising firms is showing.

This firm, which, by the way, extends the privilege of a charge account to those who desire to pay conveniently has decided to double its business on popular priced suits.

With that end in view the buyer for the Menter Co.'s large chain of stores contracted for a quantity of popular priced suits, so large that it brought the manufacturers' price down to a trifle over cost of tailoring.

Keen-eyed women will note at a glance the unusual values that such severe price making offers and will be benefited thereby. Handsome Fall suits are offered at $15, $16.50, $18, $20 for cash or on easy weekly payments as the buyer may choose. The Menter store in this city is at 107-109 W. Berry street.

DEATH COMES TO PIONEER WOMAN

Mrs. Rachel Cutshall Passes Away at Age of Eighty-Four Years.

THE OTHER DEATHS

Mrs. Rachel Cutshall, the wife of Samuel Cutshall and a life long resident of Allen county, died at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Adam Cremer, six miles north of Fort Wayne on the Lima road, where she had lived for the past month, after having been compelled to give up the old family home on account of her ill health.

Mrs. Cutshall was one of the county's best known pioneer women. She was born in Fort Wayne February 6, 1829, in the north side of the city, now known as Bloomingdale. As a girl she was well known in Fort Wayne and in 1849 she married Mr. Cutshall and they moved to the country, residing for one year on the Joe Emery farm on the Goshen road. They then settled in Eel River township, on the farm where they resided continuously since 1850 until just a few weeks ago.

Ill health suffered by both Mr. and Mrs. Cutshall prompted them to retire from the old homestead, and live with their daughter.

News of Mrs. Cutshall's death is sorrowfully received by her hundreds of friends. She was a generous neighbor, a perfect mother and kind wife, and her numerous deeds of kindness and assistance to those with whom she was associated will be greatly missed. She was beloved by all who knew her and was universally respected as a woman of beautiful character. Her death is mourned by the entire community.

She was the mother of nine children, four of whom preceded her in death. Surviving besides the aged husband she leaves the following children: Isaac Cutshall, Edward Cutshall, Mrs. Elizabeth Spangler, Mrs. Adam Cremer and Mrs. Ida Smith. She also leaves fourteen grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the Wallen church, following brief services at the residence. Rev. Lacy, of Huntertown, will officiate. Interment will be made at the Hatfield cemetery.

CLINE WRITES TO PERRY A. RANDALL

Congressman is Delighted With Report of Army Engineers

ON THE BARGE CANAL

A communication received this morning from Congressman Cyrus Cline informs Hon. Perry A. Randall, of this city, that the report on the barge canal survey submitted by Colonel John Millis, of the board of army engineers, practically assures the establishment of the proposed deep waterway from Toledo to Lake Michigan by way of the Maumee river and Fort Wayne. Mr. Cline declares that Colonel Thompson, chief of the department of engineers, believes that it is the biggest project in the country at this time, and official circles at Washington are enthusiastic over the proposition.

Mr. Cline's letter in part follows:

"My Dear Mr. Randall:

"I have just come from the war department. Went there to see whether I could get a copy of Colonel Millis' report so that the papers might know what had been done and what the conclusions of the engineers were. I could not get it, however, as it is against the practice where congress is liable to want the report to make it public.

"I was completely surprised to note the exhaustive character of the work that Colonel Millis and his associates have done. The report contains more than one hundred single spaced long written pages. Every point is discussed and the report settles conclusively three points: First, the feasibility of the construction; second, the necessary amount of water at the summit level, and third, the necessity for greater facilities for transportation and for competition rates.

"The report also shows that the canal should be constructed in conjunction with the Erie canal and as a practical part of it. I mean a working part of the Erie. It also makes a comparison with railway traffic showing the amount that could be carried on 2,500 ton barges and the comparative time that it would take to get the freight to market. It was all very interesting. I am writing you reference to it for I know with what interest you would learn these facts. Colonel Millis is our friend at every turn of the road. I sincerely congratulate you on already seeing some of the fruits of your efforts. I also want to add that Colonel Thompson said: 'This is one of the biggest projects of the country.'

"Very respectfully,
"CYRUS CLINE."

TEARFUL MOTHER PLEADS FOR SON

Judge Refuses to Grant Clemency to Earl Shoemaker.

HE GETS PRISON TERM

Stunned for a moment after Earl Shoemaker had been sentenced to from two to fourteen years in the Jeffersonville reformatory in the circuit court room today his mother rose to her feet and extending both her hands begged for mercy for her boy, then sank moaning to the floor and was borne by friends out into the corridor, praying and crying for the baby of the family who had just brought disgrace upon her and had pierced her faithful heart with an arrow that inflicted a wound known only to mothers.

Then his sister went to where the boy sat waiting for his commitment to be made out, stifled her tears long enough to embrace him and imprint a kiss on his unworthy lips and without a word hurriedly to the side of the tearful and stricken mother.

Officers of the court bowed their heads in sympathy with the family and for a few moments a most respectful silence settled over the room and men accustomed to such scenes were strongly affected by the little outburst of sorrow that marked the close of the trial.

In company with Carl Sieling, Shoemaker robbed the saloon of Fred W. Hockemeyer on Wayne trace. He had been proven guilty of theft once before but had been given an opportunity to reform and had failed to take advantage of it.

Judge John W. Eggeman heard his testimony given in an effort to secure a suspension and summarily cut short the proceedings and pronounced sentence, declining to hear other evidence from friends who were present to secure the clemency of the court. Sieling entered a plea of guilty and was given the same sentence imposed upon his companion. They were convicted of the charge of entering a house to commit a felony.

SPORTING PAGE

BOWLERS TO PUT SPORT IN CLASS

Efforts to Be Made by Few to Better the Conditions Here.

MEETING IS CALLED

There are some of the best bowlers in Fort Wayne who want to see the sport put in a class by itself and who want to improve conditions here that have injured the game in the last few years, and at a meeting called for Friday night it is likely that some efforts along these lines will be made.

In the first place it has been the custom in Fort Wayne for eight or ten years to have cigar manufacturers, brewers, saloon proprietors and lunchroom owners to put up the money that the men bowl for on the promise that the advertising secured through the appearance in the newspapers of the names of the contributing concerns will amply pay the outlay.

It probably does pay the ..., but it apparently never occurred that this advertising belongs to the newspapers and that bowling promoters have absolutely no right to offer it and that they can give no guarantee that the names will appear in the papers.

This is not to be construed as a threat to depart from established customs, but is given as one of the things that is up for improvement. The bowlers themselves have not deposited their own money for several years and this has meant that toward the close of each season after the teams are pretty well set in the race the members of the clubs down in the fight drop off and refuse to report for their scheduled games and there is no penalty attached.

If each bowler were required to deposit a certain sum to guarantee that he will finish the season the interest would continue to the end and bowlers would. Efforts to organize a permanent association under a charter failed last season for lack of interest and none of the leagues bowled out its entire schedule due to the fact that players were under no financial obligation to stick.

Bowling is an excellent sport and one in which the participants can hope for no other return for their money than the pleasure they derive from the game. It is healthful and usually free from elements that make it objectionable and for this reason the organized game ought to be put on a better plane.

There are in Fort Wayne at least fifty-six bowlers from which an eight-club league could be formed that would take rank with any in the country. The record made at the last A. B. C. tournament last spring shows the caliber of the bowlers in Fort Wayne and with men who have shown their colors against the very best that the country affords there should be at least one league that should stand head and shoulders above similar organizations in other cities.

These fifty-six men could form eight clubs of seven members each and put on a race that would be interesting as any team out of that number of the best bowlers would be composed of players with averages ranging above 175 and there would be no necessity of handicaping the teams by designating who should or should not belong.

Present conditions are rather the result of established custom than of any failing on the part of the bowlers. One man who is now out of the game is responsible for this and some very strong argument will probably be necessary to bring about a radical departure.

The Sentinel has supported and given the news of the game since its inception here and will continue to do so and is prompted solely by a desire to see better organization among the ranks of the bowlers.

Taken as a whole the bowlers of Fort Wayne are a sober, energetic and highly respected body of men who come from all walks in life and who get a lot of gentlemanly sport out of the game and most of them would no doubt willingly subscribe to any departure that would bring about improvement.

CENTRAL LEAGUE WITH SIX CLUBS

Same Policy to Be Followed Next Season by the Officials.

MEETING THIS MONTH

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Central league at Grand Rapids on Sunday, September 28, and they will be in session for two days, finishing up the business of 1913 and making the preliminary arrangements for 1914, and President Louis Heilbroner is authority for the statement that there will be no expansion of the circuit and that it will be continued as a six-club organization.

The constitution provides for a meeting of the directors within thirty days after the close of the season, but in former years where this rule was complied with the session was a perfunctory sort of an affair, attended by half the directors who shook hands, approved the reports of the officers, whether they were right or wrong, adjourned and became the guests of the championship team owners at a banquet.

President Heilbroner has put the business end of the Central league on the same plane followed in the American league, which is one of the best governed base ball bodies in the world. He is ready now to make his final report and when the directors meet they will find all bills paid and they will have submitted to them an exhaustive report of the year's business, together with the playing averages and all the information they are naturally entitled to as stockholders in a corporation.

At the Grand Rapids meeting it is proposed to suggest a number of changes in the constitution of the league and while these may not be disposed of they will be submitted to the directors and they can either vote at once or carry the matter over to the next session, which will be held in the spring of 1914 and at which the schedule will be adopted.

All business usually taken up in January will be disposed of and this means a big saving to the directors, as railroad fares and hotel bills generally cost the club owners a nice sum each year and abandoning one session means a big saving. Just what changes are proposed in the constitution is a matter that the president does not feel justified in giving to the public until they have been submitted to the directors of the league.

The salary limit will be fixed and a schedule committee appointed and after this is all over the league business can be packed in moth balls until the meeting in the spring. That the league has been very satisfactorily carried on is admitted by all the officers and it is likely that the attendance figures will be given out after the Grand Rapids meeting.

Mr. Heilbroner announces that the drafting season for class B clubs will begin October 7 and will continue five days and that there have already been some deals made by the owners for players to be used next season.

START WORK AT ONCE.

Friars Elect a Captain and Put on Schedule of Practice.

Thirty candidates who want to become players on the Friar football squad have been ordered to report at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon for the first practice of the season at Swinney park.

Because of his efficient service last season Dennison was elected captain and will be in charge of the squad. There is some promising material to be picked from, and it is believed that a better football team than any the Friars have ever had can be chosen.

SNYDER JOINS THE CARDINALS.

Catcher Frank Snyder, of the Springfield club, has joined the Cardinals and will work out for the remainder of the season.

RIVALS IN GREAT WORLD'S SERIES

Jack Barry, the Lightning Shortstop, an Important Cog of Connie Mack's $100,000 Infield, and Fletcher, Whom McGraw Trained Four Years to Make a Big Leaguer.

THE RIVAL SHORTSTOPS: JACK BARRY, AT BAT, AND ART FLETCHER.

Again Jack Barry and Arthur Fletcher will hook up in a world's series.

They met in 1911 and, in the "language" of the emphatic, Barry "smeared it all over" his rival. Barry, supposedly a weak hitter, gave "Home Run" Baker a chase for honors, his average for the series being .368. Four of his seven hits were doubles. He outfielded Fletcher not only on paper, but on the field.

In the 1911 series Fletcher's batting average was .130. He made three hits in twenty-three turns at bat and accepted twenty-seven chances out of thirty-three.

In the series with Boston last year Fletcher, upon whom McGraw spent four year to develop, hit .179, getting five hits in the eight games.

Since the season of 1913 opened Fletcher has outhit Barry. Just now he is hitting .292, but four points behind Chief Meyers, who leads the Giant hitters. Barry has been traveling his usual clip and is batting about .270.

Waterman's speed averaged sixty-three miles an hour, which is a new world's record for cars up to 231 cubic inches piston displacement. Cooper in the free for all averaged 74½ miles.

M'ALEER HAS NO CINCH ON PLACE

Rumor Has It That the American League is After Scalp.

M'ROY COUNTED OUT

Boston, September 10.—Will James R. McAleer and Robert McRoy remain in control of half the stock and the business management of the Boston Red Sox after this year? This question is asked because of repeated rumors that the big men in the American league are worried over present conditions in Boston. The Red Sox, having slumped into the second division after winning the world's championship last fall, are struggling to divide public patronage with the Boston Nationals for the first time since the American league invaded the Hub.

McAleer, who has signed Bill Carrigan to manage the Red Sox next year, is confident that the club will regain its lost prestige, but some of the other American leaguers, it is said, do not agree with him, and are fearful that Boston fans will gradually turn their allegiance to George Stallings' hustlers. The summary dismissal of Jake Stahl has not been forgotten in modern Athens. It will be remembered that when Stahl was first fired by McAleer President Ban Johnson denounced the move as both unfair and impolitic.

"The American league does not approve of such methods," said Johnson, "and the dismissal of Stahl is base ingratitude."

Johnson at first threatened to probe the Stahl case, but he suddenly lapsed into silence which, in the opinion of baseball men, has become ominous. McRoy has been unpopular with Boston fans ever since his clash with the Royal Rooters during the last world's series. Mayor Fitzgerald openly declared as a result of this rumpus, that McRoy would have to go and refused to be pacified until President Johnson interviewed him later on.

From Boston comes the information that if McAleer and McRoy are willing to sell their stock ready purchasers can be found who will meet with the approval of Johnson and other American league men. McRoy and McAleer bought 50 per cent. of the club's stock two years ago. It is said that they put up about $70,000 in cash and the balance in notes indorsed by Charles A. Comiskey and others. The club made nearly $300,000 last year, including its share of the world's series money, and everybody seemed satisfied. But in view of the current rumors regarding a change in ownership it will not be surprising if a big deal is put through between now and next spring.

Obstinate Acne Quickly Yields

Fine Remedy that Clears Skin of Pimples on Cheeks, Temples, Sides of Nose and Chin.

Acne attacks the glandular structure of the skin, more particularly those tiny glands that secrete fat.

And it is here that S. S. S., the famous blood purifier is most active in its influence.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S., the purpose of which it is to stimulate the cells in the tissues that they select from the blood the nutriment that makes new skin and thus eliminates all irritants, acids and parasites that inflame the glands. There is a natural tendency of the fine network of blood vessels in the skin to throw off impurities, but where a persistent inflammatory process has invaded the skin, the natural repair work of the blood is interfered with. It requires the stimulating activity of S. S. S. to overcome such morbid conditions. If you have been troubled with acne, do not despair of a cure.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it. The great Swift Laboratory in Atlanta, Ga., prepares this famous blood purifier, and you should take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if you blood condition is such that you would like to consult a specialist freely, address the Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Company, 181 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

'ERE'S 'OPIN' HE WILL LAND PLACE

Hargrave Says He Will Stick in the Big Show for Good.

HE IS FULL OF PLUCK

When Eugene Hargrave reached Chicago for a try with the Cubs he unburdened himself to Ralph White, of the Terre Haute Tribune, and this is what White has to say about it:

"I am going to stick with the Cubs, see if I don't," were the last words spoken by Eugene "Bubbles" Hargrave in Chicago yesterday afternoon before the ex-Terre-Ie backstop donned a Chicago National league club uniform and worked out under the direction of Manager Johnny Evers. "Bub" made an impression with the Cub' rannager who told the writer that he expected much from the youngster.

"Hargrave appears to have lots of natural ability," said Boss Evers, "and I look for him to show me something. I saw him at Fort Wayne during the Central league season and was so impressed by his all around good work that I got in touch with Owner Wagner and ultimately closed a deal for his services. Now that he is with the team I will get a chance to see just what is in the lad and I don't think he will disappoint me."

"Bubbles" helped in the warming up of the Cub flingers after which he participated in the fielding practice. His throwing to second was accurate and he took the throws to the pan in nice style. In batting workout he hit the ball squarely on the nose, once slapping the agate into the right field bleachers. He didn't get a chance to perform in the game, which was won by the Cubs, but it is certain he will get a chance before the National league flag falls.

One point in Hargrave's favor is his confidence. He is sure he will make good and refuses to entertain any doubts to the contrary. Just before going into a conference with Owner Charles Murphy, yesterday morning, "Bubbles" opened up to the writer and had the following to say:

"Now that I have worked my way up this far you can bet I won't throw away my chance to make good in the big show. I'm in great shape and with such catchers as Archer and Bresnahan to teach me the big league tricks I believe I will make myself worth something to the Cub club. I'm going to work my 'head off' for Evers and Murphy to show them I appreciate their action in giving me a chance in the big show."

SYKES BUYS A HOME.

First Baseman of Dayton Club Announces He Will Settle Down There.

Dayton, O., Sept. 10.—Earl Sykes is now a full-fledged citizen of Dayton. He always liked this town and he became stronger for it this season than ever, so he has arranged for the purchase of a home on Carlisle avenue, near Highland park and will move into the house as soon as it is completed, which will be in about two weeks.

He is open for winter employment now, but doesn't expect much trouble in landing well, as he can turn his hand to most anything. He is a clearmaker by trade, but considers that work too confining and doesn't care to follow it this winter.

"GRUBSTAKE" SAVES SAWYER FROM DEATH IN A SWIRLING GLACIAL TORRENT THAT CLEAVES THE PERILOUS ALASKAN TRAIL!

As He Starts on Most Dangerous Leg of Journey to New Found Gold Fields, Daily Sentinel's Correspondent Almost Loses His Life in Swollen Nazena River.

Upper picture shows stampeders fording the dangerous Nazena river, where Sawyer might have lost his life but for "Grubstake's" bravery. The lower picture shows the grave place of "Stampeder" Connors, one of the two men to die on their way to Scelai.

(By E. O. Sawyer.)

Mouth of Chilistone river, on Trail to Shushanna, via Messenger to McCarthy, Sept. 9.—On the pommel of my saddle, as we wind through the deep-cleft trail that leads to the newly-discovered gold fields, fabled to lie beyond far Scolai pass, I am trying to write the story of my first day's experiences of actually "hitting the trail."

But—it is only by a great miracle that there is any story to write or any writer to write it!

For I was only saved from death Sunday—my first day out—by him who has come to be my one great friend, my pack horse "Grubstake."

Very soon after we had left McCarthy, and just as all signs of civilization had passed completely out of sight, the trail winds into the "untrailed" waters of the Nazena river.

I took firm hold of "Grubstake's" bridle reins, clinched her flanks between my knees and we waded in.

But it was not so easy as at promised.

No sooner was "Grubstake" up to her knees that a rushing torrent bore us down stream into fully twelve feet of water.

I clung to the plucky little pack horse, trying to guide her back into the safe waters.

And then—suddenly — "Grubstake" "got hop." She started swimming for the shore, the current sweeping us diagonally.

In ten minutes we had landed, tired but safe on the other side.

And we didn't lose a thing except some exposed films. And I guess we were lucky, for I have heard since that two horses and half a dozen packs have been lost here the past month.

The others of our party had been forced to turn back owing to swift water in a second channel, and, after congratulating me across stream, continued their hunt for a ford.

I made camp and, while drying my outfit, was joined by G. W. Wolfe, who owns claim No. 2 below Discovery. He was taking in three horse loads of supplies.

Guided by him along a short cut over the river bottom we made the mouth of Chitistone very quickly, the others following as soon as they got across.

Here we heard of the death, Sunday, of Mike Connors, at Glacier creek, the next river upstream. Connors is the second man to lose his life at this crossing. The other was Frank Tamm.

These two are the only men to lose their lives thus far on this stampede, but over a dozen horses have been lost.

But now that we have Wolfe with us to act as guide no more trouble is expected.

But you never can tell. Perhaps "Grubstake" and I may have even a bigger adventure up here in this "land that God forgot."

MIXED UP BABIES BUT TOLD MOTHER

Child of Poor Mother Will Remain in Rich Man's Family.

A STRANGE AFFAIR

Bridgeton, N. J., Sept. 10.—After mourning four years for her last born baby, who she believed had been buried in infancy, Mrs. Beatrice Gaddis, a young widow of this city, has learned that the child is living with a well to do Philadelphia family.

In 1909, when Mrs. Gaddis was living in Mauch Chunk, Pa., her husband was killed in a coal mine explosion. Soon after that she became a mother in a Mauch Chunk hospital. There was another mother in the hospital, and this woman's child died. The nurse in charge of the two cases realized that Mrs. Gaddis was a poor widow with four children, whereas the other woman was of a family that had much money. The nurse exchanged the babies, giving Mrs. Gaddis the other mother's dead child, and giving Mrs. Gaddis' living baby to her ward companion.

A few days ago Mrs. Gaddis received word from the nurse, still in Mauch Chunk, to come there instantly. She went and found the nurse upon her deathbed. There was also the other woman. The nurse told the story and for the first time the two mothers knew the truth. The nurse begged forgiveness before she died, and this was granted by the women.

Then the woman who had possession of the Gaddis child appealed to Mrs. Gaddis for the custody of the little girl who had been brought up as her own. She pointed out that Mrs. Gaddis never had known her daughter and had four other children, whereas the little one was the only child the Philadelphia home ever had known.

Mrs. Gaddis yielded to the entreaties and has taken legal steps to permit her child to be adopted into the home which she supposes is hers by birthright.

Pastor Says Hopelessness Leads Many People to End Their Lives.

HE HAS CURE FOR IT

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—The Rev. Zed Hetzel Copp, pastor of the Cohocksink Presbyterian church, told of saving the lives of would-be suicides by his method of mental suggestion. It is his boast that never has he "lost a patient."

"Hopelessness," said the minister, "is usually the direct cause of suicide. Financial difficulties; the loss of dear friends or relatives; the enforced relinquishment of an overmastering ambition because of ill health produced by overwork; the 'wreck of things' which is the fate of men who have broken away from the leading strings of morality, and many other conditions cause the hopelessness which almost invariable precedes suicide. Then comes a temporary insanity, and the deed is done.

"The majority of 'patients' are men and women in middle age. The women predominate by perhaps 1 per cent. Treatment is based on individual needs. I always insist on a complete history of the life of the patient. I persuade them to tell me everything, no matter how they may feel it may reflect upon themselves or others. Then I sum up the case, point out the place in the road where the trouble began, impress upon them the utter impossibility of retrieving a fault or a misfortune. When they leave they are bolstered with a new courage, a new determination to live.

"During the last few weeks nine men and women have come to me and told me they have decided to seek escape from their hopelessness by suicide. By suggestion and advice, I have convinced them that there was no reason for their hopelessness, and consequently no reason for suicide."

MOTHER OF EIGHTEEN CHILDREN.

"I am the mother of eighteen children and have the praise of doing more work than any young woman in my town," writes Mrs. C. J. Martin, Boone Mill, Va. "I suffered for five years with stomach trouble and could not eat as much as a biscuit without suffering. I have taken three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and am now a well woman and weigh 168 pounds. I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boon Mill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." Chamberlain's Tablets are for sale by all dealers.—Adv.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFUL, CHARMING HAIR, NO DANDRUFF---25 CENT DANDERINE

Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair and stops it falling out.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

NICKEL PLATE SHOPS DAMAGED

Machine and Boiler Departments Destroyed With Loss of $500,000.

FRED W. SCHULTZ WILL RECOVER

Man Who Suffered in Shop Fire Yesterday Will Not Be Crippled.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—The machine shops of the Nickel Plate railroad here were destroyed by fire today. Loss $500,000.

James O'Brien, the chief engineer, could not find a telephone and tied down the cock of a steam siren to give an alarm. An engine company half a mile away heard the whistle and responded.

The Stony Island shops of the Nickel Plate were established in 1881 and employ about 500 men. The portion destroyed, it is learned here, is the machine and the boiler departments, in which it is estimated there are about 250 employes. Some time ago suit was brought against the company for forfeiture of the land the shops occupy because of alleged violation of the agreement between the original owner and the company, which consisted in building the shops at Conneaut, and the suit is still pending. It will have no bearing, it is believed, in rebuilding the works at Stony Island and they will be rebuilt at once.

WILL NOT LOSE A HAND.

Fred Schultz, Victim of Yesterday's Fire, Will Recover.

Fred W. Schultz, the young pipefitter who was so badly burned during the fire at the Pennsylvania shops yesterday, will not lose a hand, nor any part of it, as the result of his painful experience. Dr. D. R. Benninghoff, the Pennsylvania surgeon, who attended the injured man, said this morning the wounded hands were doing better than expected and that while they are very sore, they will be saved and in time be as useful as ever. Yesterday it was feared that at least two or three of the fingers would have to be amputated. Mr. Schultz was suspended by his hands near the top of the big shop while a sheet of flame enveloped him until a ladder could be hoisted. He had gone aloft to repair a leak in an oil pipe and while thus engaged, flames were communicated to the fluid by means of a forge beneath, and the fire in the blacksmith shop, mentioned by The Sentinel yesterday, was the result. The frame part of the ventilators and roof in the west end of the blacksmith shop were charred and more or less damaged, but the loss to building and machinery was not great and the shops were in full operation today. The water main, which bursted Monday and caused a suspension of operations of the three big steam hammers, was also repaired yesterday and the hammers are in operation again.

FIREMEN DID GOOD WORK.

The fire at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop yesterday demonstrated the efficiency of the fire fighting force of the Pennsylvania shops. C. W. Kronmiller, the chief, is east on a vacation trip, and Daniel Petgen, assistant chief, had charge. The moment the fire broke out, however, Frank Opatz, assistant blacksmith foreman, and the members of the department who are employed in the smith shop, grabbed a hose and attached it to the plug and had a stream of water flowing on the flames before the whistle sounded. Other streams were soon flowing and the shopmen were at least able to keep the fire from spreading until assistance from the city department reached the scene. The latter were delayed by the hundred of automobiles and other vehicles which filled the streets about the shops. "Fort Wayne has a good fire department and I would not say a word that would reflect upon its efficiency," said Mr. Opatz. "They did good work here yesterday, for which we are thankful," he continued, "but so did the Pennsylvania fire department and we deserve a part of the credit for putting out what at one time threatened to be a most damaging fire."

RUNAWAY BOYS SENT HOME.

James Heffely and Robert Till, the sixteen-year-old boys who ran away from their home in Pittsburg Monday and were arrested here early yesterday morning, when one of them was injured in jumping from the Pennsylvania Broadway limited at Gay street, were released by Judge Mungovan this morning, at the request of Captain Stoll, of the Pennsylvania police, and are now enroute home on train No. 40, which left the city at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. The parents of the lads "wired" transportation for them and they received it joyfully and were glad to go back. Each had Pullman tickets, their parents being well to do. Young Heffely, who was thrown when he alighted from the train, was not as seriously hurt as supposed and apparently suffered but little today.

J. A. LECHLER TO SPEAK AT PICNIC

Next Sunday the Trades' Council of Peru will hold its annual picnic in a grove four miles out from Peru, known by traction men as "Stop No. 72." The affair is an important event in labor union circles in Peru and will be largely attended. Among the speakers will be James A. Lechler, president of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor and candidate at large for councilman on the citizen's non-partisan ticket. Another speaker from Fort Wayne may be Hon. C. H. Koenig, who will be present if he can arrange his affairs so as to spare the time. Mr. Koenig is a national organizer for the Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and Helpers, and is out of the city at present.

RETURN OF OLD SHOPMAN.

A caller at the Pennsylvania shops today was Jacob Christian, general carpenter foreman of the locomotive department of the big Rock Island shops at Moline, Ill., who is here with some members of his family visiting friends and relatives. Ten years ago, when Ernest Tegtmeyer took charge of the Rock Island machine shop at Moline, Mr. Christian went with him and took a position in the works. He is one of the very few Fort Wayne men who remained there, the others going elsewhere or returning to Fort Wayne.

PITCHED FROM MOTORCYCLE.

William A. Sherer, a clerk in the Wabash shops, has one of his hand and one of his knees swathed in bandages and carries a number of minor bruises and sprains as the result of an accident at 7:40 o'clock last evening. While riding his motorcycle down Fairfield avenue, the front fork spring broke as he crossed the street car tracks on Creighton avenue and Mr. Sherer took a header. This was the third accident of its kind since he owned that motorcycle and it is now for sale.

INJURY WORSE THAN SUPPOSED.

A. L. Lopshire, road foreman of engines of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, had one of his hands scalded from water from a "squirt" hose several days ago while riding on an engine on the Richmond part of the division. The injury was not considered serious and but little attention was given the wound for awhile. The burn was deeper than supposed, however, and Mr. Lopshire is now in the hands of the surgeon, though he is still able to perform his duties.

TWO FINGERS BROKEN.

Machinist J. T. Fox, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, received injuries at 4:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon that will put him out of commission a few weeks. The first and second fingers of the left hand were broken and the third and fourth fingers were cut and bruised, the injury being due to a break in a chain on a block and falls hoist while hoisting a stoker trough. Dr. D. R. Benninghoff attended the injured man.

TO TAKE WESTERN TRIP.

John Eylenberg, the Wabash telegraph operator, accompanied by Mrs. Eylenberg and their daughter, will leave tomorrow for a pleasure trip of two weeks. They will stop a day each in St. Louis and Kansas City and then go to Denver and Colorado Springs, where they will spend the remaining portion of the time.

WILL HELP WITH FARM WORK.

L. C. Ketrow and J. L. Waugh, Pennsylvania firemen, have obtained a thirty days' leave of absence and will return to the home of their parents in the country to help take care of the fall crops. Corn-cutting is on, the crop very heavy and labor scarce, these firemen offered as an excuse for getting off on furloughs.

RETURNS TO THE THROTTLE.

After a lay off since last May, Michael Rohan, a Wabash yard engineer, resumed charge of an engine this morning. He spent the summer at the lakes and out in the country.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

J. L. Zink is a new fireman on the G. R. & I. road.

Fred Lenz and C. W. Rodenbeck, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

C. J. Chandler, of the Lake Shore freight offices, is off duty on account of sickness.

Yard Engineer Gus Ahrens, whom his associates call "Peg," is taking a pleasure trip to the lakes.

F. A. Long, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, is off duty on account of sickness in his family.

G. S. Booker, general car inspector for the G. R. & I., was in the city today on business connected with his office.

General Foreman H. T. Hogan, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, has returned from a visit with his nephew, Charley Dunn, in Canada.

Hyacinth lodge, No. 38, Ladies' society of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, will have a meeting tomorrow and the officers are anxious to have a full attendance.

E. W. Lehmeyer, who had a finger badly lacerated last week, was able to resume work in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

Illinois Central employes have received circulars urging cheerfulness. One sentence is "If you have a grouch, get rid of it before going to work."

Piecework Clerk D. H. Metzger, of the Pennsylvania lathe room, has returned from Auburn, Ind., where he spent several days with relatives and friends.

C. F. Meyers, of the driver brake gang, Pennsylvania machine shop, has recovered from an injury to one of his hands, which kept him from work several days.

Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Henry Balzer will leave for Erie, Pa., and thence will go farther east, visiting several points of interest, Washington, D. C., being one of them.

J. E. Wilson, traveling freight agent of the Lake Shore, was in the city yesterday, making a tour of the patrons of the line in company with Local Agent Clizbe.

Engineers T. S. Foley and R. M. Bigman and Foremen L. E. Dyer, F. F. Griswold, S. G. Parr and G. N. Gerlock, who had been sick and off duty, have returned to work on the G. R. & I.

Supt. J. C. Sullivan and Division Engineer W. S. Danes, of the Wabash, spent the night in Fort Wayne. Mr. Sullivan went to Toledo at 11 o'clock and Mr. Danes will go to that city tonight.

Michael Laughlin, on 9 and 18 between Fort Wayne and Chicago, and B. F. Campbell, on 8 and 5 between this city and Crestline, Pennsylvania passenger engineers, reported for duty last night, after being away two weeks on pleasure trips.

William A. Carruthers, former assistant trainmaster of the Northern division of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, and more recently general yardmaster for that road in Lima, has been appointed general yardmaster of the Pere Marquette in Toledo.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad as a result of "safety first" rules and their careful observation by employes, had only three employes fatally injured during the month of July, last. This is the smallest number ever reported, and in each instance the accident was due to carelessness in walking on the tracks.

William Lepper, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, worked as usual today, although this is the anniversary of his wedding, which occurred twenty-two years ago. The anniversary escaped attention until he got to the shops, when it was recalled by a remark of a friend. Mr. Lepper is one of the old men at the planing mills in point of service, having worked there thirty years.

only breaks from party lines came when Senators Ransdell and Thornton, democrats of Louisiana, voted against it and LaFollette, of Wisconsin, progressive republican, and Poindexter, of Washington, progressive, voted for it. Unrebuked applause in the galleries followed each of the latter two votes.

It was a historical day politically. For the first time since the executive influence actually became a power in legislation, a president—titular leader of the party in control of congress—has seen a tariff measure carried through in strict accordance with the principles laid down at the beginning of the effort. A more or less perfunctory conference, which will not have to deal with any vital principle, is all that intervenes before the whole American tariff system is placed on a new basis.

President Wilson will not have to allow the measure to become a law without his signature, branding it as one of perfidy and dishonor, as did Grover Cleveland a score of years ago, nor sign it with the excuse that it is at least a step forward, as did William H. Taft four years ago. President Wilson has won his fight. And it is a remarkable political victory.

Wilson and Caucus Win.

How has this fight been won? By the stubbornness and the indomitable force of a man who six months ago was purely a theoretical statesman. And by one other overwhelming agency—Kink Caucus. Without the power of the caucus the victory could not have been gained, for in the senate the democrats control by a dangerously narrow margin.

It is doubtful whether the caucus again can be invoked to accomplish a similar result in other important measures, at least in the senate. There already is a reaction against caucus rule, and leading democrats declared today that it would be impossible to make it apply to currency reform, which is the next thing on the Wilson program.

President Wilson, however, is confident currency reform will be passed at the present session.

Few Changes Made.

Before taking the final vote on the tariff bill the senate today voted down seriatim the amendments which had been reserved for action at the last. One change made on the recommendation of the finance committee gives the secretary of the treasury power to censor all moving picture films imported.

Senator James, acting for the finance committee, obtained the adoption of an amendment making it optional with the secretary of the treasury and collector of internal revenue whether they employ income tax officials from the list of civil service eligibles.

After a vote Senator Gallinger for the republicans expressed the pleasure of his partisan colleagues on the manner in which the ball had been managed by the majority leaders, and Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, congratulated the senate and the country on the absence of asperity that had characterized the long discussion.

LaFollette Gains Applause.

The final struggle began at 4 o'clock, when under a previous agreement arbitrary votes began on pending amendments. During the closing hours of debate Senator LaFollette had been the center of interest, proposing final amendments on the cotton and agricultural schedules and discussing some features of the bill which he deemed favorable.

It was nearly 5:30 o'clock when the vice president put the bill upon its passage. The roll call proceeded deliberately until the clerk called "LaFollette." The Wisconsin senator, seated in the front row, hesitated a moment. His head was bowed and resting on his hand. He leaned forward a trifle and vigorously answered "aye."

Instantly the applause broke down from the galleries and nearly every democrat on the floor participated in the brief but vigorous demonstration.

"BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER"

Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anaemia, is common in young folks as well as old. Especially is it the case with those who work in ill-ventilated factories—or those who are shut up indoors in winter time with a coal stove burning up the oxygen or emitting carbonic (oxide) gas. This blood, or blood which lacks the red blood corpuscles, in anaemic people may have been caused by lack of good fresh air breathed into lungs, or by poor digestion or dyspepsia. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart which is not heart disease at all, but caused by indigestion. Whatever the cause, there's just one remedy that you can turn to—knowing that it has given satisfaction for over 40 years.

ADENOIDS ARE A MENACE TO CHILDREN.

Babies and young children must be carefully watched for the growth of adenoids, which spoil the mental and physical life of a child. They usually result rom a succession of colds and throat irritations, and their presence is so productive of harm, that many school boards have an examining physician to detect them. The conditions that cause them may be easily avoided by careful parents. Quickly and thoroughly cure all colds and throat irritation by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and adenoids will not develop. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

FORT WAYNE DOCTORS HAVING GREAT SUCCESS

STILL OFFER FREE EXAMINATION.

The United Specialists have built a wonderful practice in Fort Wayne since they established their institute at 124 East Washington boulevard.

They certainly have earned their success, as the many testimonials given them by people right here in the city and neighboring towns have proven. Their work is undoubtedly a great boon to the afflicted. These specialists examine any person who is in earnest free of charge.

Of course it is hardly necessary to call attention of the readers of these columns to the many letters voluntarily published in this paper by many of their patients. Perhaps the most gratifying part of their endorsement comes from the many men who have been treated for years by other physicians and specialists without results. A number of these cases have been entirely cured within from one to three weeks. All this simply proves that the cure of chronic diseases depends on the ability to properly diagnose any condition and knowing what to do for the case after it has been properly diagnosed.

Since these specialists are establishing permanent institutions here, they are depending on the reputation gained by cured patients to maintain their wonderful practice. Perhaps no institution has gained such a wonderful reputation for cures in so short a time as have the United Specialists. The truly wonderful part of this is that they make no wonderful pretenses themselves in the newspapers, but the great bulk of their business has been referred to them or has come from the many published letters from people who have been treated by them.

The United Specialists have kept themselves abreast of every advance in medical science and have proven to many people of Fort Wayne that many so-called surgical diseases can be cured through the scientific administration of medicine. Of course, the successful treatment of disease must depend on a thorough understanding of any case and an absolute diagnosis of the conditions. These specialists through years of experience and their wonderful mechanical equipment can diagnose correctly nearly every doubtful and deep-seated condition.

The United Specialists have received numbers of testimonials from the citizens of Fort Wayne and vicinity.

Many men who had formerly been treated for years have asked the United Specialists to refer other men to them. They treat all chronic and nervous diseases, including Goitre, Rheumatism, All Stomach and Intestinal Troubles, Rectal Diseases, Epilepsy and all Special Diseases of Men and Women.

Their offices are located at 124 East Washington Blvd. They will examine the afflicted free of charge. They accept no incurable cases. Their hours are from 9-12, 1-5, 7-8 and 9-12 Sunday. —Adv.

South Side High School Can Not Be Built at the Present.

HARMER COMES FIRST

Members of the Fort Wayne school board do not contemplate starting the work of construction on a south side high school building before 1915 and in asking the city council's permission last night to purchase the ground at the northeast corner of Fairfield avenue and Pontiac street for $26,000 it is simply proposed to procure a site for one while it can be obtained at a reasonable figure and before the erection of dwelling houses makes the ground more difficult to purchase and most costly.

George Evans owns the property in question, which is 171 by 285 feet and the location is regarded as most convenient for high school pupils living south of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. Negotiations have been carried on so quietly that only the persons vitally interested knew anything of the proposition until it was given to the council last night. The request was referred to the committee on education and a report will be made at a special meeting next Tuesday night.

An attempt was made some time ago to buy the Hamilton property west of the present high school building for an extension but the price fixed by an Auburn jury was deemed excessive and the project was abandoned after some expensive legislation.

At that time there was an agitation for a south side high school building and this sentiment has crystalized into the present project. No building plans have been considered yet as there is ample time for this.

Members of the board will proceed at once with the purchase of the property needed to extend the Harmer school and erect a new building as the council endorsed the expenditure of $25,000 for this purpose. It is possible that condemnation proceedings will be necessary to obtain one of the three lots needed to extend the grounds from Washington boulevard to Jefferson street and for a sufficient depth to give room for a modern building of sufficient size to take care of the pupils for a number of years. The building will cost $100,000 and will be started next June at the close of the school term.

It will be necessary to vacate the alley between Washington and Jefferson running west from Harmer and the frontage of the new structure will be on Hayden park instead of on Jefferson street. The project means the removal of one of the oldest school houses in the city.

A meeting of the committee on education probably will be held on Friday evening to consider the proposition to buy the southside site.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Wheat weakened today under general commission selling, due largely to the government estimate of a record yield. Rains northwest, however, caused a decrease of receipts from the spring regions and served to check the down turn. The opening was ¼c to ½c lower and a slight further decline ensued. The close was steady at last night's level to 4c higher.

Profit taking by holders carried down corn, but the market received good support on resting orders and made rapid recovery. Prices at the outset were ¼c to ¾@⅞c off. On the subsequent rally this loss was in some cases almost fully overcome.

The close was strong, at prices varying from ¼@1¼c lower to ¾c above last night.

Unloading on the part of a prominent speculator depressed oats. Free buying for cash houses failed to make any impression.

Packers' sales of lard acted as a weight on the provision market. First transactions showed 2½@10c setback, and there was only a slight tendency toward a reaction.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 10.—Trading in the leading stocks was active at the opening today. The strength of Union Pacific was the outstanding feature. Opening with a block of 2,000 shares at a gain of a point, the price was marked up to 152¾ on large transactions until it stood nearly two points above yesterday's close.

Canadian Pacific and People's Gas advanced a point each.

Unconfirmed reports that Union Pacific would distribute a cash bonus to stockholders from the proceeds of the sale of its Southern Pacific holdings caused an upward rush in that stock, which affected the whole market, which was more animated than any session for some time past. Dealings in the first hour increased nearly 300 per cent. over yesterday.

Bears who had been raiding the list on the strength of expensive damage to crops from drought were forced to turn about abruptly and cover on a rapidly rising market. Passage of the tariff bill by the senate and publication of the crop report late yesterday removed the restraint which had been imposed by these two stock factors. Bonds were firm.

The market closed strong. Optimistic reviews of conditions by trade authorities and the moderate contraction in unfilled orders shown by the United States steel statement created interest in the independent steel stocks, which rose smartly. Brisk buying set in for some of the laggards in the railroad list especially Southern Pacific, which mounted to above 92. Union Pacific went a point higher, reached 155.

Degenerate Has Convulsions When He Gets Into Trouble.

DRAWS JAIL SENTENCE

Claude Lenwell, a degenerate, who throws a fit whenever he cannot extricate himself from trouble any other way, was turned over to the Pennsylvania police force yesterday afternoon by a conductor on one of the trains because the young fellow boarded the train at Columbia City and had no money to pay his fare. When the local officers took charge of Lenwell, he acted as if he were in convulsions, but after he was lodged in a cell at police headquarters he threw up his hands and told the officers that his bluff wouldn't work and that he was ready to give up. A charge of disorderly conduct was placed against Lenwell in the city court this morning and Judge Mungovan fined him $25 and costs, which Lenwell couldn't pay, going to jail to serve out the time.

Several weeks ago Lenwell went into a local restaurant and after eating all he could hold he was suddenly seized with a fit when the time came for him to pay his bill. The police were called and thinking that the man was really ill took him to Hope hospital, where he received medical treatment for the supposed ailment. After being looked after for a while there he left the city and went to Columbia City. According to the police he has been arrested at the Whitley county seat and at Portland for trying to pass bogus checks. Judge Mungovan informed Lenwell this morning that his psuedo fits wouldn't get him anything around here any more, and that he'd better get out of the city when his jail sentence expired.

Sold Bad Beans.

J. B. Bickel, proprietor of a West Main street restaurant, was in court on a charge of selling unwholesome provisions. Ernest G. Moore says that Bickel sold him five cents' worth of beans that were sour, decayed and mouldy. Bickel had the case continued until tomorrow morning.

The Other Cases.

Arthur Baker, charged with assault and battery on his wife, was granted a continuance until tomorrow morning. The testimony of the wife was taken this morning, but Baker says that he can prove that much of her testimony was false and promised to have several witnesses in court tomorrow to testify in his behalf. Baker is held under $100 bond.

Joe Tritz and Osig Osalinski were acquitted of charges of assault and battery after a tedious trial. The men were supposed to have participated in the Polish riot on the east side Saturday night. The services of an interpreter were required at the trial, which lasted for more than two hours.

suggested such a possibility to the present occupant of the executive chair, and heard this banker vainly challenged to show how it might be done.

Refers to President Wilson.

"I shall not soon forget the emphasis with which the president of the United States declared that no man would ever be found who would be willing to imperil his reputation or tarnish his fame by so flagrant a proposition of his high office."

Mr. Glass declared that opposition to the bill by bankers was caused by the fact that the bill would sever the relations between banks and stock gambling.

"The whole fight of the great bankers is to drive us from our firm resolve to break down the artificial connection between the banking business of this country and the stock speculative operations at the money centers," he said.

Likes Part of the Bill.

Representative Hayes, of California, ranking republican member of the banking committee, opening debate for the republicans, endorsed part of the bill, but opposed the provision allowing national banks only 5 per cent profit on their investment in the federal reserve bank.

"In despite of all these criticisms," said he, "I am firmly of the opinion that if the modifications in our system proposed by this bill can be put into active operations, they will work a vast improvement in our system or lack of system."

Majority Leader Underwood put through a resolution closing general debate when the house adjourns on Saturday. Day and night sessions will be the order meanwhile.

Houses and Rooms For Rent

MANY people have rooms they could just as well rent as to allow to remain empty. They are rooms which the family seldom or ever uses but are kept furnished at more or less expense and which produce no revenue. Why not rent them and get the money? Others have houses which sometimes remain vacant for months because they do not let it become generally known that the houses are for rent. At this season of the year, when people are returning from vacations, and new people are coming to town, is an especially good time to make public the fact that these rooms or houses are for rent. How shall people be informed that these houses and rooms can be rented? It is very simple and very inexpensive. Use the classified advertising columns of The Sentinel.

SHOP DAY AT THE FORT WAYNE FAIR

Fort Wayne's Great Army of Workers Will Go Thursday.

MOVE TO SHUT SHOPS

Thursday, September 18, will be designated as "shop day" at Fort Wayne's biggest fair, scheduled for next week at the Driving park, as the employes of Fort Wayne's big manufacturing and railroad shops have indicated that that is the day they went to attend the show. Secretary Biederwolf, of the Commercial club, will ask the managers of all local factories to make arrangements on this day to permit as many of their employes as possible to enjoy a vacation so that they may follow the crowds to the big fair. This is also Nickel Plate day, and if the shop managements agree to name it as shop day, it will again be the big day of the fair.

John Miller, the "potato king," as he is called by the farmers and others that annually exhibit the results of their skill at their pofession, will be on hand in the horticultural hall this year with a big display of all character of farm produce, according to a statement he made this morning to James Parnin, the superintendent of this department. Mr. Miller lives southwest of the city and for years has been showing his farm produce at the fair with such success that other farmers of the county figure that when they can top his best they have reached just about the limit of perfection in farm production. The horticultural show this year promises to be a big one, as only the oats crop was short in Allen county.

Robert Dean says his chicken show is going to be real class this year. A son of James Jones, the Ossian horseman, who will show two crack stallions at the fair, this morning secured space in the poultry department for his pen of fancy chickens, which he is showing at the Indianapolis state fair this week. The lad's father will enter a state fair blue ribbon winner in the shape of a 2,200 pound Percheron Norman stallion and a Belgian stallion almost as large. The two animals will be led from Ossian, sixteen miles, and Mr. Jones says he figures he will make the trip in six hours. Not much speed to them, but then they aren't built for speed.

Mrs. James VanCamp, superintendent of the art department, wants to invite all women and other prospective exhibitors in that line to call at the fair headquarters either Thursday, Friday or Saturday afternoon, when she will be glad to answer all questions and issue exhibitors' tickets. Several dozen already have been sold, which is unusual in this department. As a rule the art hall exhibitors flock into the fair office about Monday before the fair opens.

You are invited to attend millinery opening at Clara Reinkensmeier's, Thursday, Sept. 11th, at 2026 Broadway. 8-3t

The degree team of herd No. 1 of the Benevolent Order of Buffaloes will give a dance at Tanner's hall September 26. Proceeds from the dance will be added to the fund being raised to defray expenses of the team's trip to Louisville to attend the national convention of Buffaloes. J. L. Lewis is chairman of the committee on arrangements, and the other members are H. D. Miller and O. M. Schwartzbrough.

Social, Swinney park, Sept. 10. Benefit of blind man. You are cordially invited. 6-4t.

The Handsomest Dress Fabrics We Have Ever Seen---We Want You to See Them

IMPORTED NOVELTIES—MARVELS OF THE DESIGNER'S SKILL—EXQUISITE IN THEIR WONDERFUL, EXOTIC BEAUTY.

The makers of Dress Fabrics have set new marks this year. The products of the looms both here and abroad are fairly startling in their loveliness. The Autumn Woman of 1913 may outshine her sisters of previous years. She has the most beautiful fabrics ever made, from which to fashion her raiment. These are the pride of the foreign makers.

HAREM CREPE

Heavier than the ordinary Crepe, and better. It is 54 inches wide, and comes in Copenhagen, Taupe, Brown and Bordeaux.

BEDFORD CORD

The Germans vie with the French in making this staple a novelty. We are showing it in three qualities, from 45 to 54 inches wide, in all the leading shades.

FRISE.

A rough weave, but neither heavy or harsh. Very soft and clinging. Also called "DUVETYNE," colors, Marine, Taupe and Brown.

JACQUARD POPLIN

A mixture of silk and wool, sometimes known as brocade. The French discovered it. Width 40 inches. Colors, Copenhagen, Navy, Tan, Brown, Mahogany and Gray.

BATISTE RAYE

A French Fabric, of medium weight showing a very fine cord effect, and very closely woven. Colors are Navy, Garnet, Amethyst, Copenhagen, Russet and Taupe. It is new. It is worthy of a name.

EPONGE

An unusually beautiful weave of brilliant yarns showing superb color combinations, in dark shades; 54 inches wide.

Silk and Wool Brocaded Matlasse

Probably the most beautiful fabric brought out this year. Heavy but exquisitely soft in texture, of such superfine quality that the most vigorous rumpling leaves no sign, this marvelous cloth opens new vistas of delight to the beauty lover. The richness of the Silk Brocade must be seen to be realized. The colors are Gold, Taupe and Rose.

BABY DAY AT THE FAIR ENDORSED

Well Known Women of the City Approve Plan for Better Babies.

THEY LIKE THE PLAN

The Better Babies Contest to be held at the Fort Wayne Fair next week is arousing enthusiasm among the parents and educators of the city and county. This contest is open to all children residing in the county over six months and under six years of age. There is no fee whatever attached to the contest entry and parents are given the opportunity of having their children examined and scored by expert physicians without any cost.

Mrs. Simon Ackerman, president of the Mothers' club, said: "The National Congress of Mothers and the Parent-Teachers' clubs have endorsed the better babies movement. In many cities they are conducting the contests. Both organizations here are going to do all in their power to make this contest one of the most successful ones."

"I am delighted," said Mrs. Fred McCulloch, president of the College club and a prominent member of the Mothers' club, "yes, very much delighted, to know that a better babies contest is to be held here. I have been reading about them all summer and I consider the contests one of the very most important educational factors for parents and children. I shall be very glad to assist in any way possible."

All mothers are invited to consult the Better Babies Bureau of the Fort Wayne Fair in person at the office in the Pixley-Long building or by phone 180.
